Midwest's Toll In Tornadoes Hits 32

250 HURT, HOMES SPLINTERED AS TWISTERS STRIKE

Central Illinois Counting 10 Known Dead, Hit Hardest; Damage Expected To Reach Million; Trains Wrecked, Hundreds of Buildings Leveled.

(By Associated Press)

Five tornado-strafed midwestern states counted 32 persons killed and nearly 250 injured today as unofficial estimates of the damage passed the $1,000,000 mark. Hundreds were homeless.

The twisting storms, laden with hail and rain, struck hardest in central Illinois, where at least 10 were known dead. Next hardest hit was southeastern Kansas, where seven, including three children, were killed.

The Kansas storm struck about noon yesterday. It started in northeastern Oklahoma; later knifed into southwestern Missouri. Five were known dead in Missouri storms.

About sundown what apparently was a separate storm twisted across Illinois from the southeast, dipping to earth in the Pekin area. Rushville and Astoria also were hard hit

Another twister lashed at Heber Springs, Ark., killing four persons. Then it swung up through southeastern Missouri, accounting for three of Missouri's dead at Neeleyville. An earlier Arkansas blow had killed a woman at Conway.

Lights, Phones Out.

The three-mile wide Illinois storm left an estimated 85 persons injured.

Rushville was without light or telephone service.

Doctors and nurses were rushed to Pekin, where more than 250 houses were destroyed. The Pekin fire station and the Chicago and Northwestern railroad depot and roundhouse were demolished. About 150 passenger and freight cars were strewn in fragments alongside tracks.

Injured from towns around Pekin were being concentrated there. Sixty were taken from South Pekin, a village of 500 five miles south.

Total damage in Illinois was not estimated, but Police Chief Paul

STEELE LEAVES HALF MILLION

Bequests In Cash, Securities of Shelby Industrialist Total $204,000.

Bequests and endowments totaling nearly $500,000, half of which goes to his family are provided in the will of the late H. W. Steele, Shelby industrialist and co-founder and president of the Shelby Steel Hinge company, which was filed today in probate court. Mr. Steele died March 13.

Mr. Steele's widow, Mrs. Emma A. Steele, is the chief legatee under provisions of the will, receiving $100,000 in her choice of securities owned by her late husband, all his personal property and a home in Shelby.

She also will receive two-thirds of the annual earnings of the residue of the estate, not to exceed $6,000. One-third will go to a daughter, Mrs. Daisy Steele Anderson, Columbus.

Bequests of $75,000 in stocks and bonds are made to Mrs. Anderson, and $25,000 to Mrs. Ruth

March Goes Out Like Lamb, Just Avoids Being Duck

March went out today as it came in—very much like a lamb, although last night and early this morning it looked as if the March animals had changed into a duck.

March behaved in a most un-Marchly manner, with nary a flare-up nor a storm of any consequence.

The average temperature for the month was 43.1, five degrees above normal. The highest daily reading was 81, and the lowest was 8.

You're right—there was more rain than is usual for March. The total rainfall was 5.27 inches, and there was a half-hearted half inch of snow, according to Observer Otto Sprunger.

But the forecast for the first day of April, the month of traditional showers, was a bit foreboding. It'll be "much colder" tonight and tomorrow, and along the lake there may be snow. In the southwest, there was a likelihood of frost, the forecast said.

Cantor Charges Nazis In U. S. Warned Him of Death.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Eddie Cantor told a gathering of women Jews last night that Nazis in this country have threatened him and members of his family because he is a Jew.

He also stated his radio sponsors have been told 10,000,000 Germans in this country would boycott their produce if he was not dropped from their program.

"These Nazis have called up my wife and told her, 'Tell Cantor to get out of Los Angeles before he is carried out in a pine box'," he told the local Hadassah. The society is raising funds to pay for the transportation of Jewish children from Germany and Austria to Palestine.

Deadline Nears, Half of City Drivers Still Without '38 Tags

With the deadline for 1937 license plates only a few hours away, half of Mansfield's autoists were still without their 1938 tags today and quiet reigned at at the Richland County Automobile club where the license are issued.

The customary last-minute rush for new plates was missing, Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar said.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for 1937 tags and no extension will be granted, Frank West, state registrar at Columbus, said.

During the past year 15,286 cars were in operation in Mansfield while up to this morning, only 7,896 sets of plates had been issued at the auto club, Beverstock said.

The office will remain open from 6:30 to 8 this evening to handle last-minute applicants but will close at the regular time tomorrow afternoon. The office will be open Saturday afternoon, however.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates warned that drivers of machines bearing 1937 plates will be arrested starting at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

"All cars parked on city streets after midnight with 1937 tags will be towed to the police garage," Bates said, "and will not be released until new licenses are purchased.

"Beginning tomorrow morning, police have been instructed to arrest drivers with 1937 tags," he added.

The maximum penalty for operating a car with illegal licenses is $25.

Ruins of Kansas School After Midwest Tornado Struck

—Central Press Photo.

This aerial view shows wreckage of Highland Park school at Columbus, Kan., after it was struck yesterday by a tornado which ripped through five states and left today a death toll of 27 with more than 200 injured. The Columbus school had been dismissed 15 minutes before the twister struck. Hundreds of buildings were splintered in the five-state area and damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

NAVY HUNTING 6 LOST FLIERS

Warships, 240 Planes Search Seas for Vanished Sextet; 5 Killed In Crash.

(By Associated Press)

HONOLULU—Sixty-five American warships and 240 fighting planes were ordered into an intensified search at dawn today for six naval airmen who vanished during mimic warfare which already had cost five lives.

No trace of the plane was found during a night-long search.

Naval officers still held hope the six aboard would be found alive.

Five men were killed yesterday when their plane crashed off Waianae, Oahu Island, in the third major fleet air tragedy of the year. Two others of the crew escaped.

Bodies of two of the victims were recovered. One was identified as Lieut. L. O. Crane of Nashville, Tenn., in command of the plane. The other body was not identified.

In previous tragedies during 1938 maneuvers, seven men were lost when a patrol bomber vanished at sea and 11 were killed Feb. 2 when two patrol bombers collided in squally weather in night operations off Southern California.

The flying boat which vanished yesterday was identified as 7VP18, in command of Lieut. Charles Signer.

Naval spokesmen said the plane undoubtedly was forced down at sea.

DRIVER ENDS OWN LIFE

MARTINS FERRY —(INS)— Albert Heggy, 38, who was free on bond in a hit skip fatality at Harrisville, was dead today a suicide victim. Heggy shot himself in a restaurant here last night.

Martin Will Upheld As Suit Comes to Abrupt End

Judge Gives Directed Verdict on Motion of Defense Counsel; Plaintiff's Attorney Agrees.

Trial of a suit contesting the will of the late William B. Martin, president of the Martin Hardware company, ended abruptly shortly before noon today when Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston sustained the defense motion for a directed verdict upholding the will.

In an unusual courtroom procedure, Atty. Jesse Vickery, Cleveland, one of two lawyers for Allen Martin, Mansfield, plaintiff in the case, urged the court to sustain the motion which was submitted by Atty. William F. Black, defense counsel.

Plaintiff's Counsel Agrees.

His statement said: "I probably am going to make the most unusual argument—if it can be called an argument—this court has ever heard. I wouldn't attempt to urge upon a court a matter I didn't believe to be right. I want to frankly say to this court that I believe that the court ought to sustain the motion."

The jury signed the motion after it was sustained by Judge Huston and the estate, valued at more than $75,000, was reverted to the executor, A. E. Courtney, Mansfield, for settlement.

The suit was brought by Allen B. Martin, nephew of the late hardware store head, who contended that Mr. Martin, who died in January, 1937, in Detroit, was "unduly influenced" in making the will by Roeliff Martin, Cleveland, a half-brother, who received the bulk of the estate. The nephew was bequeathed $1,000.

Other bequests included $500 to

'CLUE' FADES

Body Discovered In N. Y. Bay Not Levine Boy, Police Say.

NEW YORK— (UP) —Discovery of a body floating in upper New York bay today caused a flurry of excitement which subsided when police announced it was not that of Peter Levine, 12-year-old New Rochelle, N. Y., boy who was kidnaped Feb. 24.

The body, police said, had been in the water a month or more. It appeared to be that of a boy about 15, first reports said.

First indications were that the description of the body did not tally with that of the Levine boy at the time of his disappearance.

Police said the body, which had been in the water about a month, was that of a man about 50. There was no evidence, officers said, that any crime had been committed.

FOUND IN LAKE

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Police sought today the identity of a well-dressed woman whose body was found in Lake Erie here. An envelope in her pocket said "Sister, Mrs. Bessie Greenwood, R. F. D. No 1, East Liverpool" She had drowned.

LOSS $2,000 IN FIRE AT O. S. R.

Defective Wiring Believed to Have Caused Blaze In Work Room of Greenhouse.

Believed to have been started by defective wiring, fire fanned by a high wind gutted the work room at the Ohio State Reformatory greenhouses last night causing a loss which Supt. Arthur L. Glattke today estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000.

A guard in the east cell block saw flames shooting from the one-story structure about 11 p. m. and sounded an alarm Fire apparatus from the Mansfield department was dispatched and with institution officers battled the flames for more than an hour

The structure was of brick and frame construction. The roof was burned off and framework in the interior was destroyed.

Glattke said that with a strong wind blowing from the south, the flames were kept away from the greenhouses proper and that no flowers or seedlings were damaged.

Tools and equipment stored in the workshop were destroyed

Among flowers and plants which escaped damage are those placed in the institution's rock gardens which each year attract thousands of visitors

Glattke announced that plans to rebuild the burned structure will be completed in a few days.

WPA Worker Victim of Brutal Beating

– News-Journal Photo

A brutal slayer, who repeatedly slugged Sherman Reed, 58, WPA worker over the head, left him dead on the kitchen floor of a cottage on the eastern edge of the city yesterday The picture above was taken shortly after Reed's body was found.

SHERIFF FINDS MAN BEATEN TO DEATH IN SHACK

58-Year-Old Father of 10 Brutally Slain; Neighbors Discover Body; Long Questions Sons In Effort To Obtain Clue In Killing.

A killer who brutally beat Sherman Reed, 58-year-old WPA worker, to death by striking him on the head at least 12 times with a heavy gas pipe or other blunt instrument at his three-room Seventh avenue cottage yesterday, was being sought today by Sheriff E. P. Long.

After questioning persons close to Reed, including three of his seven sons, in a series of interviews which lasted late into the night, the sheriff and Deputy Frank Robinson renewed their search this morning for any likely suspects.

The officers eliminated all other possible motives in investigations last night at Reed's tiny home where he had lived alone for the past year, and today were pressing their investigation on the theory that his brutal assailant was bent on revenge.

A bank book showing deposits of $245 and $17.12 found in the slain man's clothing eliminated a robbery theory. The sheriff said Reed's sons were unable to offer any clue as to the identity of the killer, and knew of no one who may have had a grudge against their father.

Dead anywhere from six to 15 hours, in the opinion of County Coroner Hugh C. Winbigler, Reed, father of 10 children who lived alone, was found sprawled in blood on the floor of the kitchen-dining room of his tiny cottage by Charles Burger, Fifth avenue, a neighbor, at 6:45 p. m. yesterday.

Killed By First Blow.

Coroner Winbigler theorized that Reed was killed by the first blow which struck him over the right eye, and that his killer then stood over his victim and struck at least 11 more times at the back of Reed's head, near the base of the brain. Reed's left hip was broken by his fall to the floor, Winbigler said.

There were no definite indications of a scuffle in the room. This led the coroner to believe that Reed, possibly getting up from a chair after being attracted by a noise in the other room, was felled before he had a chance of offer resistance.

"The murder weapon could have been a hammer, a baseball bat, a piece of pipe, an iron bar or any blunt instrument," the coroner said.

Gas Pipe Lone Clue.

An eight-inch cast iron gas pipe of the type which extends from the burner to the fuel line, was found by Sheriff Long near Reed's body. It had been broken off at the burner end. Tests were to be made today of two brown specks

NO DICTATORSHIP PRESIDENT SAYS

Roosevelt Letter to Unnamed Friend Hits 'Planted Bogies Under Every Bed.'

(By Associated Press)

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—President Roosevelt, charging organized opponents of his government reorganization program had "planted bogies under every bed," asserted in a letter made public today he had "no inclination to be a dictator."

The letter, addressed to an unnamed friend under date of March 29, urged approval of the measure "in its present form" and replied to charges that the legislation would make him a dictator by asserting:

"As you well know, I am as much opposed to an American dictatorship as you are, for three simple reasons.

"(a) I have no inclination to be a dictator

"(b) I have none of the qualifications which would make me a successful dictator.

"(c) I have too much historical background and too much knowledge of existing dictatorships to make me desire any form of dictatorship for a democracy like the United States of America"

JAPS WEAKEN

Admit China's Army of 200,000 Stops 300,000 Nipponese.

PEIPING—(INS)—The Japanese army high command tonight admitted for the first time that its mighty host of the north had been stopped stone still by ten Chinese divisions, numbering from 150,000 to 200,000 men, in Shantung province.

So bitter is the fighting and so hard is the pressure exerted by the desperate Chinese, that the Japanese have landed 17,000 new troops in north China in the last two weeks. The Nipponese army of the north now falls just short of 300,000 men.

Taierchwang is the key point in the struggle on which may depend the fate of the Lunghai railroad, for possession of which the Japanese have been vainly fighting all winter.

London Aircraft Firms Confer On Sabotage Menace

LONDON—(UP)—Aircraft companies, responding to an urgent government warning, conferred secretly today on means to fight sabotage of planes being built for the royal air force under the government emergency rearmament program.

Capt Alan Graham, conservative, demanded in the house of commons last night that the death penalty be prescribed for sabotage of warships, war planes and weapons of war generally, defendants to be tried under military law

First there were cases of malicious damage to planes at Ringway airdrome in February.

Between March 19 and March 23, damaged electric wires were found at the airplane factory at Stockport on four planes, one being built for the royal air force, the other three for Belgium.

Junior Sorosis Has Business Meeting at Mrs. Baird's Home; Miss Edyth Mann Presents Review of Haliburton Book.

DURING the business meeting of the Junior Sorosis which was held last night at the home of Mrs. S. R. Baird, Crescent road, a group of members agreed to attend the junior day affairs of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Columbus the week of April 10. The convention proper will be held April 12, 13 and 14, with junior club activities being conducted the last day.

Those going are the Misses Virginia Anderson, Olive McNamara, Ruth Zelenka, Edyth Mann and Helen Anderson, Mrs. Lyal Baumgardner, Mrs. Eugene Linham and Mrs. Baird. Official delegates will be elected from this group at the next meeting which will be held April 12 at the home of Miss Zelenka, 52 Summit street.

There will be a luncheon, tea and banquet for the junior club representatives as wells as various meetings and discussion groups.

The program consisted of a review of "Book of Marvels" by Richard Haliburton. Miss Mann gave the review in which she told of the various astonishing facts Haliburton recorded. Two of the chapters dealt with Fort Jefferson built on an island in the Gulf of Mexico which has never been used for military purposes, but which has been used as a prison and on which the physician who set Booth's leg after he shot Lincoln was confined and of the part of northern Greece which is known as "no women's land," where a group of some 900 monks live. Here there is no female creature, even all the livestock is male and no women are ever allowed to enter the gates of the monastery.

Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, sponsor of the club, was a guest at last night's meeting.

The final meeting of the Mansfield Federation of Women will be held April 5 at the Women's Club. This will be a business meeting and tea at 2:30 p. m. Miss Anne Udin of the Higbee company book shop, Cleveland, will be guest speaker and will give a book review.

Sewing Circle, Lodge Have Regular Meetings

The Companion Sewing circle met yesterday at the K. of C. hall with Mrs. Walter Aby and Mrs Alma Heuss as hostesses. The 20 members and their guests, Miss Florence Hetler, Miss Leona Huss and Miss Helen Mamber, spent the early part of the day in quilting and dinner was served at 2 p. m

Following the sewing circle meeting, the regular lodge session was held with Mrs Howard E Arehart in charge. A contest offered amusement for the group and the prize was won by Mrs Arehart. The next regular meeting will be April 27 at the hall with Mrs. Samuel Berger and Mrs. W. B. Hill as hostesses.

Mansfield Women Will Attend Convention

Mrs. Joy Herbert, Mrs. K. E Buhr and Mrs. E. D. Gibson will represent the Mansfield Music club at the 20th annual convention of the Federation of Music clubs to be held in Cleveland April 5, 6 and 7. The sessions will be held at the Hotel Statler

Mayor Harold Burton, Donald Dickson, Etelka Evans and Frances Bolton Korthever are among the persons scheduled to appear at the convention.

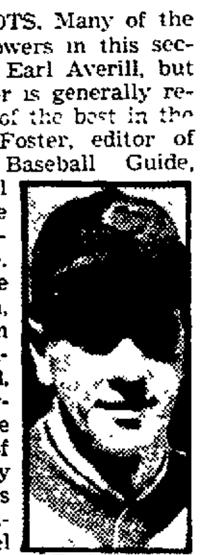
Averill's Honored By Guide

Indian, Gehrig Only Active Players Selected on Team Chosen by Foster.

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor

RANDOM SHOTS. Many of the Indians' followers in this sector are sour on Earl Averill, but the center fielder is generally recognized as one of the best in the business. John Foster, editor of the Spalding Baseball Guide, names Averill as one of the greatest gardeners of all-time. He places the Snohomish, Wash., florist on his second all-time team, and, with Lou Gehrig, holds the distinction of being the only active players honored . . . Insofar as travel is concerned Lima's Wooden Wooden Shoe bowling team is a high flying outfit. The Lima team made the trip to the Inter-City tourney in Alliance by air. And the bowlers did not regain their ground legs before their appearance. They rolled a pitiful 2388.



Earl Averill

An analysis of the figures reveals that there were 5,490,235 losers in the recent Irish hospitals sweepstakes besides....besides the horses which finished behind Battleship. Winners of prizes numbered 1,774....What is the name of the bowler who is seriously considering taking up fishing....now that he has subscribed to a fishing magazine? ...Teddy Yarosz, ex-middleweight champion, who was the victim of a home town decision in Cleveland this week, has had 200 fights, and not a mark to show.

Reports from the south say Rolle Hemsley is making a determined bid to be good, and Os' Vitt is a happier man...That Eric McNair deal the Indians have been considering is off.... because that Ken Keltner looks like the goods....Speculation in the winter book odds for the Kentucky Derby has been enlivened by eastern money on Fighting Fox, but Stagehand, trained by Earl Sande, remains the favorite.

UP TO PLAYERS TO GET THERE FIRST.

COUNTY COACHES Al Fendrick and Orville Kibler, who have played a lot of baseball, recently argued about the correct way to turn first base. One said the correct way was to turn on the left foot, the other said the right. The same question arose at the Indians' training camp, and developed that Averill, Hemsley and Henry Helf, a rookie, are the only ones to round the first station on their left foot. Vitt, like the other players, favor the right...Next year's A.B.C. tournament, awarded to Cleveland, will be rolled on 32 alleys, eight less than available in Chicago....In this week's Post article, Waite Hoyt rates Miller Huggins, who got his start in baseball in Mansfield as the greatest manager of them all. Wait ought to know. He's played for a lot of 'em.

Feller to Work Against Pals

NEW ORLEANS La — (INS) — Bob Feller is scheduled to pitch three innings today when the Cleveland Indians take on the Pelicans in their last game before breaking camp for the exhibition trip north.

Yesterday Denny Galehouse and Earl Whitehill allowed the Phillies but six hits as the Tribe won at Biloxi, 5 and 2.

Most encouraging aspect of the victory was the Cleveland batting. The Tribe jumped on three Philadelphia pitchers for 12 hits, ending a long streak of weak and ineffective work at the plate.

Hugh Mulcahy, one of the Phils' best pitchers, was hit for four runs in the first three innings. He was succeeded by Pete Sivess whose performance was remarkable in that he retired Ken Keltner three times in a row. Earl Allen, a rookie, pitched the last inning for the Phillies.

Mansfield Marksmen To Be Kept Busy This Month

There is plenty of activity on schedule for Mansfield marksmen this month.

The Richland Gasco and Pistol club meets the Strasburg club of Galion in a return match at the Gasmen's indoor range tonight. Gasco won the first match, 1366 to 1300.

The Richland club will be represented by Class B and C teams in the midwest team matches in Columbus over the week-end.

In addition to a number of other team matches, the Richland club will be represented in the N. C. O. individual championships to be held in Ashland, April 23-24, Melvin J. Marvicsin, secretary of the club, announces.

In a match held in the Galion Armory last night, the host team came out on top with a 1406 aggregate, with the Gasco club finishing second with a 1369. The [illegible] club was tied with a 1366.

Lloyd Bond[illegible] of Galion led the shooting with a 287 and Mrs. F. R[illegible] of the same club shot a 285. [illegible] with a 279 led the Gasco club and Arnold's 283 led the Mansfield club. The five high follow.

Carbetta Seeks Revenge Tonight

Paul Carbetta will be seeking revenge tonight when he travels to Marion to participate in the finals of the annual A. A. U. amateur boxing tournament.

The Friendly House youngster faces Howard Dodge, 108, of Marion, and will "shoot the works." Dodge met Carbetta on the Friendly House amateur card early this month, and took a close decision.

Since then Carbetta has been going great guns and recently annexed the N. C. O. flyweight crown at Galion. The lad has scored impressive victories at Marion to advance to the finals. Johnny Villella and Mike Wentz will be in his corner.

Y.M.C.A. Tourney Opens Tonight

Three Mansfield teams go into action tonight in the opening round games of the Class A division of the Gold Medal basketball tournament at the Y. M. C. A.

The clubs, Benny's Hi Notes, Mack's Pure Oils, and the Reece Opitcals start the ball rolling at 7 p. m. on a card in which three Class A and one Class B games will be played.

JIMMY'S LUNCHES ARE IDLE

A last-minute chance in the schedule of the Gold Medal basketball tournament at the Y tonight will eliminate Jimmy's Lunches from playing an exhibition game with Ralph's Snappy Service club of Marion. A new try, the Hi-Speeds, led by Earl Herrick, will tackle the Marion club in an opening round game.

The Hi Notes open the evening's hostilities by tackling the Galion Quality Coals, and this game will be followed by a meeting between the Opticals and the Triangle Grills of Marion.

And the Class B game between the Mansfield Queen Bees and the Willard Merchants will be played at 8.30.

The Ashland Merchants, one of the pre-tourney favorites, who were scheduled to go into action against Ralph's Snappy Service of Marion at 9:15, will not participate in the tourney due to the absence of several stars from the lineup.

In place of this game, Jimmy's Lunches will play an exhibition tilt with the Snappy Service club.

The Pure Oils bring the program to a close at 10 p. m. against the Blue Sunocos of Ashland.

Chicago May Get Title Go

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — Promoter Mike Jacobs was expected from New York today to confer with members of Chicago's South park board about rental of Soldier Field for the proposed Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight which will be held in June if the "Brown Bomber" disposes of Harry Thomas in the stadium Friday night.

Louis was a 20 to 1 favorite to retain his heavyweight championship against Thomas. However, there was virtually no wagering on the bout.

Although New York, Philadelphia and Detroit were being considered for the million dollar return match between Louis and Schmeling it was reported Chicago would get the bout if Jacobs can secure Soldier Field for a satisfactory rental fee. The South park board demanded 25 per cent of the gross receipts for the Louis-Braddock fight last June and drove Jacobs into Comiskey park.

Fast Pace Set In Inter-City

'Given a Few Breaks, Boston Will Be Tough,' Says Cronin

By DILLON GRAHAM

SARASOTA, Fla—(AP)—The old rocking chair has caught up with all major-league managers except Joe Cronin, the peppery Irishman who is needling the Red Sox for a surprise assault on the American league flag.

And the 31-year-old Californian, in great shape after a winter on the golf links, looks fit to do a bit of fancy shortstopping for the Bostons in his fourth season as skipper.

Joe has bumped into some bitter disappointments since he went to Boston. He thought that all the gilt-edge stars that Tom Yawkey's gold dollars bought would fetch a bunch of pennants. But he forgot to figure in the element of temperament. Some of those aces didn't see eye-to-eye with the others, a touch of dissension appeared and the Red Hose flopped.

The atmosphere has cleared this season and there's real pep and ginger at this Sarasota camp. Some of these stars aren't as young as they used to be. They're really working hard now to keep from slipping. Furthermore, Cronin has imported one of the finest collections of rookie talent cavorted in Florida and the "name" players know they've got their hands full to retain their jobs.

Lefty Grove, at 38, is the oldest ace pitcher in the loop. And he looks great. But he's got to go sometime. He's always taken good care of himself and Cronin believes he is good for another year or two. Jimmy Foxx, the belting apple-knocker, ran into a bad slump last season and wound up with a feeble .285 at bat. But Jimmy kept in trim during the cold months with frequent hunting trips and the boys say he's in better condition than in several seasons.

Lefty and Jimmy must be right if the Bostons sparkle.

CRONIN . . . he's optimistic.

"And I think they're going to have good years," Cronin says. "I've never found Lefty as friendly and full of life as he is this spring and Jimmy's showing a lot of power with his stick."

Given a few breaks Boston may push its nose right up to the top. The infield is set with Foxx, Bobby Doerr, Cronin and Pinky Higgins. Doerr, the 20-year-old flash from the far west, saw some action last year and Joe thinks he's ready to go to town now.

With Joe Vosmik, bartered from the Browns, Ben Chapman and Roger Cramer, Boston has a crack outfield. And a line of rookie reinforcements is ready to move into the first row trenches. Ted Williams, Leo Nonnenkamp, Fabian Gaffke and Lindsay Deal are plenty good.

The Bostons lack power behind the plate. Moe Berg, Gene Desautels and John Peacock are good receivers but the other Red Sox will have to carry them when it comes to punching.

"I've got a good group of young pitchers," Cronin confides. "Charley Wagner from Minneapolis and Jim Bagby from Hazleton look particularly good. That gang from Little Rock, Emerson Dickman, Jim Henry, Dick Midkiff and Lee Rogers, should do us a lot of good.

"It's just a matter of how the breaks go. If these kids come through, if Lefty and Jimmy go good, and if Doerr stands up at second base, we're going to be tough.

"You've got to figure the Yanks and Tigers as the teams to beat but I've got a hunch the Yanks are going to miss Lazzeri plenty.

"There's one thing certain. This gang of mine is primed for a fight and we're going to be tossing punches all the way."

First Lutherans Win League Title

Defeat Baptists, 48 to 27, to Cinch Crown In Final Game of Season at Y. M. C. A.

BASKETEERS of First Lutheran annexed the Church Class A league championship last night at the Y. M. C. A.

The Lutherans, leading the pack by half a game going down the home stretch, went on a scoring spree to drub the lowly Park Avenue Baptist club, 48 to 27, to win the crown. First M. E., the only club that had a chance to share the crown, won its game last night on a forfeit over the United Presbyterians.

Led by Earl Riechert, league leading individual scorer, who banged the backboards for 21 points, the new champions, after being held to a 6-all tie in the opening frame, broke loose in the second stanza to take a lead they never relinquished.

Dials Again Tosses Spear In Workouts

Mehock Gets O. K. to Add Event to Relays Program.

Elmer Dials was throwing the javelin again today, and not badly, either.

The Mansfield high school athlete's specialty was ruled out by the state association this year because of the danger to spectators and contestants, and Coach Harry Mehock did not even bother to wipe off the javelins this spring.

Turned to Hurdles.

Instead he instructed Dials, who looked like a coming champion in the event last spring, to turn his attention to participation in the hurdles.

But today the lanky athlete is again throwing the javelin. Not in preparation for state competition, as the event is still outlawed, but for the Mansfield Relays, scheduled April 23.

Mehock yesterday received an O. K. from H. R. Townsend, Ohio commissioner of high school athletics, to add the javelin to the Relays program.

Townsend ruled favorably on Mehock's plea for the javelin because the Relays is not confined solely to Ohio schools, and the event is not outlawed in the other states which are permitted to send teams to the Mansfield classic.

One of the best prospects to wear Mansfield high livery, Dials is expected to emulate his predecessor, Gil Weygandt, who set a new state record in the event at Columbus last spring.

Changes Field.

While Mehock does not consider the event any more dangerous than the discus, he said today that the javelin pitchers will hold their competition at nearby Davey field, instead of on the football field as in the past.

There is a possibility that the scene of the discus throwing will also be shifted to Davey field, Mehock said.

Guthrie Wins Bowling Title

JONES' AUGUSTA MEET DRAWS GOLDING STARS

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP)—The nation's golf leaders got in final warmup rounds today for the renewal of the Augusta National tournament which features the annual competitive appearance of Bobby Jones, retired golf king.

The tournament, starting Friday, attracted a field of some 50 players, including all members of the United States Ryder cup team, 10 U. S. Open champions, five professional champions and four who have won the national amateur title.

KNUTE ANDERSON'S SCORE LOOKS BIGGER 'N' BIGGER

CHICAGO — (AP) — Every high series in the American Bowling Congress these days makes Knute Anderson's figure look bigger and bigger.

It was on March 19 that the Moline, Ill., alley owner knocked over 716 of the tenpins in the Coliseum. The nearest approach to that figure was made yesterday when Joe Fliger, another veteran kegler, gave Chicago its only representation on the list of leaders with a 717 count.

ZANESVILLE CLUB SUES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

ZANESVILLE — (INS) — The Zanesville Bees, former Middle Atlantic league farm club of the Boston Bees, had a suit on file today against the Zanesville Chamber of Commerce for $16,719, allegedly due them for losses incurred during last season. The club claimed to have an agreement with the Chamber of Commerce that the latter would pay all losses exceeding $2,500.

Ted Ganyard's 667 High in City League

TED GANYARD of the cellar Meder Recreation club slapped out a 669 to account for the best piece of scoring in the City league at the Meder alleys last night.

Ganyard piled up scores of 204, 226 and 239 as he paced the Men of Meder to a 2810 total and a pair of victories over the Liederkranz club, led by Earl Blackburn's 601.

The front-running Miller Oldsmobiles accounted for the high team total of 2864 as they swept their series with the Metcalf Pure Oils to increase their lead.

The Lumbermens Mutuals and the Roma Lunches shot respective scores of 2808 and 2803, with the former club winning two of the games. Jack Applan rolled a 615 for the Lunchmen.

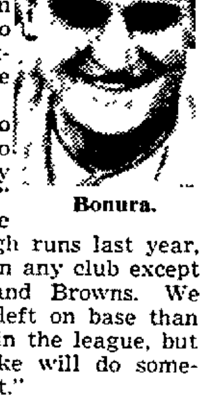
Harris Visions Top Division For Senators

Believes Addition of Bonura Will Make Club Threat.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

ORLANDO, Fla.—(UP)—Bucky Harris visions a place in the first division for his Washington Senators. Owner Clark Griffith meanwhile talks about knocking off the New York Yankees. Enthusiasm abounds in the Senators' camp. The big reason is Zeke Bonura, first baseman obtained from the Chicago White Sox in exchange for Joe Kuhel.



Bonura.

"I have to pinch myself to believe we really have Bonura," Harris said. "We didn't get enough runs last year, making less than any club except the Athletics and Browns. We had more men left on base than any other club in the league, but I think Big Zeke will do something about that."

Harris thinks the right-handed hitting Bonura balances the Senators' attack which was predominantly left-handed last year. This year they have three right-handed hitters, Bonura, Al Simmons and Rick Farrell.

"I think our attack is strong enough to take us into the first division," Harris stated. "Every man in the batting order is a potential .300 hitter. We'll get plenty of men on base, and if Simmons and Bonura hit up to expectations we should score a lot of runs. I'm batting Cecil Travis, who led our club in hitting last year with .344 in sixth place so you can see what I think of the rest of my team."

The two big problems right now seem to be Simmons, 35-year-old outfielder whose lifetime batting average is .342, and the pitching staff. Simmons, who had his hand broken twice last year and slumped accordingly to .280, has shown promise of a comeback.

See Trouble For Hank In Ross Bout

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong had another knockout victory on record today, but fight critics predicted a rough time for him when he meets Welterweight Champion Barney Ross here May 26.

Armstrong kayoed Lew Feldman, New York veteran, in the fifth round of the feature bout on the Hippodrome's benefit program last night for Charley Lynch, boxing official who died in January. Almost 5,000 fans watched in amazement as Feldman's jumping jack tactics completely bewildered the feather champion from Los Angeles, who missed six times as many blows as he landed.

BURNETT TO MANAGE

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—John Burnett, former infielder with Cleveland, will become player-manager of the Columbia club in the South Atlantic league.

THEATER

THE reports of Alan Mowbray's death seem to have been greatly exagerated, what with the character actor starting a new picture. But the report of the death of Austin Parker—Miriam Hapkons' ex-mate—seems well founded. Although the writer was extremely reserved and little was known of him outside the industry, he was one of filmdom's most colorful characters. With William Wellman and Marian Cooper he flew in the famous LaFayette Escadrille during the war, and a few years ago fought for the Moors against the Riffs. At one time he was with the U. S. Intelligence department in Panama. This next fall he was to have produced Ernest Hemingway's first play on Spanish war. He was a crony of Bill Powell and Ronald Colman.

No Chance For Murder.

Pity the poor murderer who runs up against the combined "detecting" talents of Mr. Moto, great Japanese detective, and the uncanny genius of one of the house of Chan. In "Mr. Moto's Gamble," there is Moto himself on the trail of the murderer, and Charlie Chan's No. 1 Son, who has been aiding his famous father for several years in ferreting out guilty persons, takes a hand in the hunt. The latter is played by Keye Luke, Chinese actor, while Moto has been created for the screen by Peter Lorrie. This particular murder takes place in a prize fight ring, with thousands of spectators eyeing every move in the ring. But the victim, one of the fighters, drops dead before their eyes, and there apparently is no clue to his murderer. It takes a bit of "deducing" to find the correct answer. The mystery thriller is at the Madison.

The Year Between.

The idea behind "Walking Down Broadway" was probably suggested by the Ziegfeld club, made up of girls who once were Ziegfeld chorines. The picture revolves around six attractive young women who share the same dressing room backstage of a big revue. Each girl has a different goal, and as it's New Year's Eve, they sign an agreement to meet one year from that night. But when the year rolls around, two have gone to tragic deaths, one is in prison and three—but that would be telling the story. The six girls are portrayed by Lynn Bari, Leah Ray, Dixie Dunbar, Jayne Ragan, Claire Trevor, and lovely Phyllis Brook. The story of all the girls is told in a way that seems a part of one major story.

Autobiography of a Spy.

One of the first pictures made by the beauteous Madeliene Carroll, "I Was a Spy," comes to the Majestic tomorrow for two days. It will be recalled that the picture was based on the real life story of Martha McKenna, Belgium spy who published her experiences after the war. They were written from her home in Belgium, and tell of her serving as a sister of mercy in Flanders, while secretly giving information to the allies. She was trapped and court marshalled and sentenced to be shot. Her remarkable story, with a happy ending, was filmed by British-Gaumont against authentic backgrounds. Herbert Marshall plays opposite Miss Carroll. Jack Randall in "Where the West Begins," is the second feature.

Beauteous Chinese at Ritz.

Anna May Wong, considered one of the most beautiful Chinese women in the world, as well as one of the best dressed women, is star of "Daughter of Shanghai" which the Ritz offers Friday and Saturday. The plot reals with the inhuman racket of smuggling human beings; of trading on the fears of aliens whose countries are in an uproar, and smuggling them—for a sum of money—into this country, where they become fugitives from the immigration authorities. Philip Ahn, Chinese actor, Charles Bickford, Larry Crabbe, and others are in the cast. Supplementing this feature is "Ridin' the Lone Trail," with Bob Steele Western star.

Hate Shaving? TRY THIS!
The New Marlin "Miracle-Sharp" Blade..
AT A LITTLE MORE THAN 1¢ A BLADE
45 Seconds From Lather to Towel—and the Smoothest, Cleanest Shave You Ever Had.

Don't be discouraged if you are one of those fellows with a tough, wiry, bristly stubble—the kind that defies almost any razor and makes shaving a painful nuisance. The new Marlin high-speed, luxury blade zips right through that kind of a beard and leaves your face clean, smooth and comfortable. Fast? It's almost like wiping your face with a towel.

The reason is simple. Marlin blades are made of fine Swedish surgical steel, the kind that takes a real "edge". And they are the kind of blades that can be safely guaranteed by people like Marlin who know fine steel, and have been making fine guns for 67 years.

Try a pack of Marlin's today. You will agree with thousands of other hard-to-please men that you never had a finer shave in your life. And the price, 20 for 25¢, at a cost little more than a penny apiece.

HUNT SLAYER OF WPA WORKER IN TINY COTTAGE

Father of 10 Brutally Beaten to Death In Kitchen; Body Discovered by Neighbor.

on the pipe which resembled human blood. The sheriff believes this to be the killer's weapon and that the burner end with tell-tale blood smears had been carried away by the slayer as he hurried from the cottage.

The sheriff, County Prosecutor G. W. Marriott and E. C. Fuller, police identification expert, searched the grounds about Reed's home this morning in an effort to locate the broken end of the gas pipe. Unsuccessful, they planned to resume searching this afternoon.

Tells of Finding Body.

Burger found Reed's body after he knocked at the door and failed to get a response. He entered and saw Reed lying near the kitchen doorway.

"I saw him in all that blood and I knew there was something wrong," Burger said. "I went over to Rudolph Burggrof (another neighbor) and told him something was wrong and then I ran down to the poolroom and called the sheriff. It was the closest telephone that I knew of."

Burger said he had gone to the house to pay Reed a call. He had been seining crawfish in a creek near Reed's house to feed his pet raccoon, he said.

The sheriff, and Deputies Robinson and J. R. Hetler arrived at the cottage and posted a guard until the coroner arrived and completed his examination. The body was then removed to the John S. Jones funeral home.

Hadn't Worked Wednesday.

Sheriff Long said he learned that Reed, who had been working on a sewer project at Bellville, did not work on days when it rained because he was afflicted with asthma. Yesterday's showers would have aggravated this condition and Reed probably stayed home, he said.

"There was a loaf of bread and some sandwich meat on the table," the sheriff said, "and it appears to me that Reed was just sitting down for a lunch when whoever killed him entered."

The sheriff concurred with the coroner in the belief that Reed was not aware that an attack was imminent.

Sheriff's Theory.

"I believe he heard someone coming into the other room and got up to see who it was when the first blow was struck. It appears that this happened just a few moments after he got off his chair.

"Whoever killed him wanted to make sure of doing a complete job. They struck without mercy. The one blow would have been enough but whoever killed him just kept on swinging even after he was down."

A broken dish on the table at first was viewed as indication of a struggle but later officers agreed the dish was broken by the missing burner on the gas pipe. Deputy Robinson said it appeared the burner flew into the air after the pipe was broken and evidently struck the table.

Furniture in Reed's tiny home had not been disturbed. This was another factor which officers considered in eliminating the robbery theory.

Saw Smoke Wednesday.

Possible evidence that Reed was still alive at 5:30 a. m. Wednesday was given by Russell Chew, 23, of Seventh avenue. He said he saw smoke coming from the cottage at that hour.

Three sons of the slain man questioned by the sheriff last night said their father had lived at the small cottage, within sight of the entrance to Liberty park, for nearly a year.

Prior to that he owned and operated a farm near Alta. He lost this property during the depression. Earlier in life he had lived on farms in the vicinity of Bellville.

Reed and his former wife, now Mrs. Pearl Robbins, East First street, were divorced nearly 17 years ago, the sons said. He had preferred to live alone most of the time.

Son With Him for Time.

A son, Virgil Reed, 21, lived with his father, for about two weeks but Sunday had left to take a job as a farm hand near Shelby. Sheriff Long was unable to establish contact with the son to inform him of the slaying last night.

Reed was a native of Butler and had lived in Richland county all his life.

Besides his son Virgil, he is survived by six other sons, Walter, Lawrence, Earl and Donald of Mansfield, Dale of Wooster, Doyle of Ohio City, and three daughters, Mrs. L. Andrews and Mrs. Virginia Horvath of Mansfield, and Mrs. Lillian Williams of Lexington. He had 11 grandchildren.

Also surviving are a brother, Robert of Killbuck, Holmes county, and three sisters, Mrs. Martha Law of Bucyrus, Mrs. William Bierly of Butler and Mrs. Mary Laribee of Butler.

Private funeral services are to be held at 1 p. m. Saturday at the Jones funeral home in charge of Rev. H. E. Tropf. Burial will be in Butler cemetery.

Iowa Woman Can't Get Pension Because of Girlhood 'Story.'

DES MOINES, Iowa—(AP)—An Iowa woman is having trouble getting old age pension because she fibbed by three years about her age when she was married, Byron G. Allen, state old age pension chief, reported.

"That's what all the girls did," she protested when confronted with the marriage license record.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

"The Reckless Seven" by Nelly Rieu is an unusual adventure story for boys and girls around 12 years old. The setting is on the island of Alderney, one of the Channel Islands, which, while belonging to England, lie so close to the coast of France.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey found seven lively young children quite an expensive problem; so Mr. Bailey bought an old fort, from the government, and the entire family moved in. The main event of the story is when the seven are stranded on an island nearby, with no older person, along, to help them out. The children are put on their mettle and come through with flying colors.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Municipal Judge Joseph Call was eating lunch and reading a newspaper. He saw where Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes had held in a supreme court decision that a handbill ordinance in Griffin, Ga., violated guarantees of freedom of the press.

Judge Call returned to his courtroom, dismissed the case of Miss Melba Strand, who was charged with violation of a city ordinance in passing out handbills in front of an auditorium where Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was speaking.

Financial Report of Richland County

For the Year Ending December 31, 1937.

CERTIFICATE OF THE COUNTY AUDITOR

Auditor's Office, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 24, 1938.

I, Norman L. Wolfe, Auditor of Richland County, Ohio, do hereby certify that the following report is correct.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

Court of Common Pleas, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 24, 1938.

I certify that the following report is in compliance with the law.

C. H. HUSTON,
Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The following explanatory remarks and data are submitted for the better understanding of the annual financial report.

County General Fund

In addition to the expense of operating the Court House and Jail many welfare activities are financed from the County General Fund. These include the Children's Home, County Infirmary, Soldiers' Relief and Burial, Blind Relief, Aid to Dependent Children, care of indigent tubercular cases and indigent crippled children, as well as the maintenance of several hundred persons in various State institutions for the feeble minded and insane.

Agricultural extension work, and County and State elections are also financed from the General Fund.

Drastic reductions in the real estate tax have greatly reduced General Fund revenues and have made it difficult to carry on the ordinary functions of Government. Richland County has the extremely low operating levy of 1.80 per thousand dollars of tax value. According to information furnished by the State Auditor this levy is the lowest of the 88 Counties in Ohio.

If Welfare activities, mentioned in the first paragraph, are to be continued it may be necessary to submit the question of additional funds to the voters of Richland County.

Debt

No new bonds have been issued during the past two years and the County debt is being steadily reduced. The amount of outstanding bonds and interest was reduced from $359,490.00 on January 1, 1937, to $234,717.31 on January 1, 1938. In order to protect the limited operating funds the County has followed a policy of issuing no new bonds without a vote of the people. If this policy is continued Richland County will be entirely free from debt in 1940.

In 1927 Richland County owed approximately two millions of dollars. Taking into consideration the balance in the Bond Retirement Fund and excluding Poor Relief Bonds that are financed by the State the County owes less than $75,000.00. This is a per capita debt of $1.15 in 1938 as compared with a per capita debt of $30.00 in 1928.

Relief

Direct Relief has been for the past year an obligation of the County. All funds for this purpose in 1937 were provided by the state legislature.

Direct Relief includes the provision of food and fuel to indigents and cost $157,597.13 in 1937.

County Road Funds

Since the defeat of the one mill Road Levy all the income for road purposes is now derived from the Auto License Tax and the Gasoline Tax, and County Road Revenues have been greatly decreased in the past decade. The detail of the expenditures from this fund is easily followed in the report.

Tax Funds

The County acts as a tax assessing, collecting, and distributing agency for the other units of local government; namely, the schools, cities, villages, and townships. Richland County acts in this capacity for twenty-three school districts, two cities, six villages, and eighteen townships. These funds make up the item shown as "Undistributed Taxes."

The other items contained in this report are, I believe, self explanatory.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Auditor Richland County.

RECOVERY LED BY INDUSTRIAL STOCK ISSUES

Analysts Attribute Rally to Belief Temporary Reversal Due.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Industrial stocks led a recovery swing in today's market that put many issues up fractions to 2 or more points. While the opening was fairly active, volume dwindled later. Advances generally were well maintained near the second hour.

Analysts attributed the early rally mainly to the trading belief a temporary reversal, at least, was due in view of the lengthy and almost uninterrupted slide.

Bonds were uneven but commodities moved higher. Foreign securities markets, on the whole, improved.

Holders of motor shares gave attention to forecasts of a substantial pickup in production of new cars in the next few weeks, providing the recent moderate expansion in retail sales continues.

Observers expressed the opinion over-large stocks in the hands of dealers at the beginning of the year had been reduced greatly. Output of new cars and trucks in the first two months of 1938 were estimated at 7,000 units less than registrations plus exports for that period.

Clouding electrical equipment issues were reports distribution in this field during the first quarter probably averaged between 20 and 40 per cent under a year ago.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Scattered lots of greasy combing domestic wools were being moved in the Boston market yesterday at steady prices, but the volume generally was very moderate. Some houses were receiving very little business. Short French combing lengths fine territory wools in original bag brought 60 to 62 cents scoured basis. Limited quantities of graded bright quarter-blood fleece wools were moved occasionally at 26 to 27 cents in the grease, the demand for this grade being slower than last week.

GALION—A son was born Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reece of South Boston street, at the Good Samaritan hospital.

U. S. JURY GETS LIQUOR CASES

14 Face Maximum Sentence of Two Years in Prison.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The cases of 14 men being tried on four charges of conspiracy to defraud the government through illegal production of alcohol were given to a U. S. district court jury today.

Federal Judge Mell Underwood instructed the jury that any one of the defendants could be found guilty on any or all of the four counts or acquitted. All of the jurors must concur in the verdicts.

The maximum penalty for conspiracy is two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each count.

FIVE DIE IN MINE BLAST

EDMONTON, Alta. — (Candian Press)—Five persons were killed and five injured seriously in an explosion and fire last night at the Hinton collieries, 165 miles west of Edmonton.

COURT UPHOLDS WILL AS VALID

Case Comes to Abrupt End as Defense Counsel Wins on Directed Verdict.

the First M. E. church, Mansfield; $500 to the International Society for Crippled Children, sponsored by the Rotary club; and $500 each to Grace D. Harding and Ethel A. Wirts, employes of the Martin Hardware company under Mr. Martin.

The trial opened Tuesday and 27 witnesses for the plaintiff and defense were heard by the jury of nine men and three women.

Black made his motion shortly after he turned witness in the trial and told the jury that he considered Mr. Martin "thoroughly sound in mind" the night he signed the will. Atty. Black had drawn it up.

Black was on the stand for nearly 30 minutes of an hour's session before a recess was called Only one witness was heard after the recess and then Black submitted his motion for a verdict

Questioned by Atty. R. E Hutchison, defense co-counsel, Black testified that Mr. Martin had asked him to meet him at the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Jan. 4, 1937, the day before the contested will was signed, and that he conferred with him two or three times before Mr Martin signed the document.

"On Jan 5, I handed Mr Martin the will, he read it and that night we went to the offices of the Mechanics Building and Loan company where it was signed," Black said.

Asked by Hutchison if he saw Roeliff Martin, a half-brother of Mr. Martin and defendant in the suit, before the will was drawn up, Black replied he had not seen him for at least 25 years prior to Mr Martin's death

Before the opening of the court session at 9 a m. today, Atty Black requested that the court in his charge to the jury, advise the jurors to disregard the story of the case in Wednesday's News-Journal which said that 15 witnesses for the plaintiff had testified that Mr. Martin was "unduly influenced" by the defendant, Roeliff Martin, in making his will and that the witnesses had said Mr. Martin was "mentally incompetent."

Judge Huston said he would go into the matter later.

Black asserted the statements were incorrect, but would have been read by jurors who might be influenced by them.

Identifies Previous Will.

Atty. Workman was called to the witness stand by the defense this morning to identify a previous will drawn up in his office about a year before Mr. Martin's death.

Asked about Mr. Martin's health and mental condition at the time and before his death, Atty. Workman said, "I would say his mind was sound when he signed the papers."

The morning session was recessed shortly after 10 o'clock to permit Atty. C F. Creedman to recall several rebuttal witnesses for the plaintiff

Plaintiff Objects.

After two witnesses, called yesterday afternoon by the defense, he told of financial dealings with the plaintiff in which his uncle allegedly had intervened, Atty Vickery, one of the plaintiff's attorneys charged that the defense counsel was attempting to "belittle the plaintiff before the jury.'

He objected on the grounds that the testimony might be misleading in indicating the nephew had been virtually left out of the will because his uncle did not approve of the nature of the transactions.

Judge Huston overruled the objection, stating that the court believed the testimony had a bearing on the case.

Ben B Boals, manager of the Page dairy, where the younger Martin worked as a driver 11 years ago related how William B Martin had made up two shortages totaling about $59 for his nephew when Boals complained to him in a letter, which was read to the jury.

Back on the witness stand this morning Martin denied that his uncle had paid the shortages asserting that he paid one of them at the dairy company office and the other at his home when Boals called.

Auto Dealer Testifies.

A. M. Colby, Mansfield automobile dealer, told on the witness stand how the uncle had said his nephew was in no position to ask for credit on a new automobile which he purchased in 19[illegible]

A number of men were called to the stand by the defense yesterday afternoon and this morning to tell of their associations with Mr Martin before his death on Jan 19 1937, in Detroit

Questioned by Attys Black and Vickery, regarding their observations of the aged man's business activities at about the time the will was made most of the witnesses said they realized the hardware store head was in failing health but noticed no change in his mental facilities.

H. T. Siegenthaler, who served with Mr. Martin on the board of directors of the Mechanics Building and Loan company, testified that he witnessed the signing of the will the night of Jan. 5, 1937, before a meeting of the board at which Mr. Martin presided.

Saw 'Nothing Unusual.'

Cross-examined by Atty. Vickery, Siegenthaler said, "I saw nothing unusual about Mr. Martin's behavior to indicate his mind had weakened"

Siegenthaler added that he didn't read the will, but told the jury he had signed as a witness to "at least two other wills made by Mr. Martin a year or more before his death." The previous wills, he said, were drawn up in the office of Atty. C H Workman

Asserting that he saw Mr Martin almost daily during the last four months of his life," Sidney L. Palmer, executive secretary of the Mansfield Community fund, testified that he went to Detroit with Mr Martin less than two weeks before his death, but noticed no marked change in his thinking

Rev. E G. Corwin, pastor of the First M. E church, which received a $500 bequest under the will, told the jury that he "noticed Mr Martin was 'poorly' as far back as 1935, but I observed no change in his mental condition. I would say that his mind was sound before his death"

Correction of Errors In Martin Will Story.

In yesterday's story concerning the Martin will contest, The News-Journal erroneously stated that 15 witnesses for the plaintiff had testified that they believed the late Mr Martin had been incompetent when he drew his will Only two testified to that effect, the others testifying that they believed his physical condition had been impaired Through another error, part of the heading on the story incorrectly said the 15 witnesses had testified concerning undue influence exerted on Mr Martin in preparing his will This was not the case, and The News-Journal makes this correction in fairness to all concerned

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Thursday, March 31: "Who touched me? . . . for I preceive that virtue is gone out of me." Read Luke 8:43-48.

The word "tact" has fallen into disrepute. It usually implies white lies, insincere politeness, a shrewd eye to the main chance.

But in its original meaning the word referred to a sure and delicate sense of touch. A surgeon, palpating a human body is tactful His finger tips tell him truths which calloused hands can never find."

It has been said that a gentleman is a person who is never unintentionally rude. He does not make awkward mistakes because he is insensible to the people around him. Yet how often do we find ourselves guilty of not being gentlemen—much less Christians—because of some stupid unawareness of the race, religion, color, class, or lot, of a person in the circle in which we happen to be speaking. This is a failure of sensitiveness. A Christian's sense of touch on other lives will never be clumsy and cruel. An alert unselfishness of sympathy and imagination will save him from thus hurting others.

Prayer: Teach us, O Lord, neither by thought, word or deed, to lay hard hands upon the lives of those around us, and so to order our meetings that in the contacts of every day strength shall go forth from us, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Rudyard Kipling lived for four years near Brattleboro, Vt.

SPECULATE ON DAVEY STAND ON CONSERVATION

Capital Wonders If Governor Will Carry Out Plan to Curb Politics In Department.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—With a special session of the legislature expected soon, speculation arose today on whether Gov. Martin L. Davey will seriously attempt then to carry out his recent proposed plan to take the conservation commissionership out of politics.

The governor in a speech during Wild Life Conservation week recommended that the state conservation commissioner, heretofore, appointed by the chief executive, be chosen by the conservation council.

"In my judgment, the conservation commissioner should be appointed by the council and be answerable to that body alone," he said. "The great value of this would be a continuous program, without the interruptions and uncertainties due to changing administrations."

Action Possible.

Such action could be taken during the anticipated special session which when called probably will be concerned chiefly with the relief question. The only way to permit consideration of a bill to accomplish the purpose the governor set in his conservation speech would be for him to include the subject in his call for a meeting of the legislature or in a subsequent special message.

The recommendation that the conservation commissioner be removed from the office controlled by the chief executive apparently was interpreted by the forces of Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, as an attempt to steal some of the Cincinnatian's political thunder.

Shortly after the Davey speech Sawyer's campaign office here sent out notices recalling that Sawyer made the same recommendation—and made it first—as one of his initial campaign platform planks when he formally announced his candidacy Jan. 31.

The conservation council of eight men is appointed by the governor, but members' terms are staggered and each serves four years, thus leading to the conclusion that if it appointed the commissioner, the chief executive could not dominate his selection or his policies.

Whether the alteration would wholly remove politics as a factor in administration of the office would remain to be seen.

The governor also spoke in favor of increasing Ohio's public park facilities, which he described as unable to stand comparison with park developments in other states.

DRAW DENIAL

Rumors Former Kaiser Critically Ill Held Without Foundation.

DOORN, Holland—(INS)—Paris reports that former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is critically ill were flatly denied today.

Sources close to the ex-kaiser said that the reports were without foundation.

It was admitted, however, that he has been confined to his house for the past few days owing to bad weather.

A Farmer's Diary

March 30.

IT IS moving time. There is a swing and a lilt to the spring air. It is the time of year to pack up your troubles, your last year's failures, along with the family trinkets and necessities, to load them onto wagon wheels and get rolling along—out of the past into the future, out of the old neighborhood into the new, with all the charm of novelty, the thrill of new beginnings, the richness and vigor of hope.

Along the highway rolls a huge, efficient van with the blazoned sign—ACROSS THE ROAD, OR ACROSS THE CONTINENT. Behind it comes an old car with a trailer, from which protrudes the posts of a bed, a baby cab, and like a cocked hat atop the whole, a tilting, galvanized washtub.

One household moves with the orderly precision of soldiers on parade. The precious pieces of furniture, garbed in bulging, gray traveling clothes, are carried swiftly and surely, by men in uniform, into spacious rooms where they wait the will of the owner or decorator. The mammoth van lumbers away.

In the other case, the old car drives up to the vacant house, unloads its passengers and swings open the doors of the new home, amid shouts of children and barking of dogs. The trailer is unburdened in a snappy, slap-dash fashion and the radio, the washing machine, the sofa and the family clock jostle each other upon the veranda in awkward, unbeautiful disarray.

But "the Colonel's lady and Judge O'Grady" share a common spring song. There is movement and rhythm. Things march. The world rolls on. Spring is here—new gardens to make, new fields to plow, new homes to tend. Get into the spirit of the thing—and let's go!

WOUND GUNMAN

Gas Station Attendant Fires, Leads to Arrest of Three.

CANTON — (U.P.) — Raymond Kane, 21, of Canton, was in extremely serious condition in a hospital here today, wounded by an attendant during the holdup of an Akron gasoline station last night.

Kane was said by authorities to have confessed his part in the holdup. He gave information which led to the arrest of Joe Sahaohevski, 19, and Nick Nosuc, 22, both of Canton, on highway robbery charges.

NO DICTATORSHIP PRESIDENT SAYS

The letter was made public by Secretary Marvin McIntyre shortly before 2 a. m. (EST). There was no explanation for the late release except that the president made up his mind to issue it before midnight and it required almost two hours to prepare it for the press.

The president made his decision while resting from a 120-mile motor trip to and from Fort Benning late yesterday to inspect the troops and equipment of the noted infantry post. Later today he planned to lunch with the officers at the marine camp here and then pay a visit to a resettlement project in Pine Mountain valley.

The name of the president's correspondent regarding reorganization was withheld because McIntyre said in a prefatory statement "he did not write for publicity purposes."

The letter was dated the same day the president asserted at a press conference that senate passage of the reorganization bill proved that body "cannot be purchased by organized telegrams based on direct misrepresentation."

In the communication today he recalled that when he proposed the legislation more than a year ago all parties and factions agreed on the need of such a measure, but that a year later "a carefully manufactured partisan and political opposition to any reorganization had created a political issue—created it deliberately out of the whole cloth."

As examples of the "bogies" he contended had been planted by the opposition he said it had been charged that the army engineer corps was to be abolished "in spite of the fact" that congress alone could determine who will do river and harbor work, and, that the forestry service was to be "hamstrung—hamstrung I suppose by the best friend forestry ever had in the United States."

He mentioned other like charges and added: "I cite these merely as examples of a score of silly nightmares conjured up at the instigation of those who would restore the government to those who owned it between 1921 and 1933, or those who for one reason or another seek deliberately to wreck the present administration of the government of the United States."

Referring to the bill's provision making executive orders on bureau shifting subject to disapproval by congressional "joint" resolution within 60 days, the president said if such a resolution were passed he would "in the overwhelming majority of cases go along with carefully considered congressional action." He added:

"I can think of no cases where the president would not gladly yield to a clear expression of congressional opinion."

In giving two "cogent" reasons why the bill should be passed in the present form, he said a "concurrent" resolution turning down the presidential orders — which some opponents have proposed—was questionable constitutionally because it was only an expression of congressional "sentiment" and could not repeal executive action taken in pursuance of law.

A "joint" resolution must be approved or rejected by the president, whereas a "concurrent" resolution does not go to him for action. Some opponents favor the "concurrent" form to prevent the possibility of a veto, thus forcing congress to reject an executive order by a two-thirds vote.

LOOT FOUND

LUCAS—A motion picture projector, stolen several months ago from the Lucas school building, has been recovered by Sheriff E. F. Long. The machine was found in Columbus.

An electric motor and a horn, stolen at the same time, have not been recovered. The identity of the thief is believed to be known, and officers in another section of the state are seeking to arrest him.

C. E. YARIAN, 61, DIES IN GALION

Pneumonia Takes Life of Real Estate, Insurance Salesman; Funeral Friday.

GALION—Charles Edward Yarian, 61, of 131 North Liberty street, died Wednesday afternoon at the Good Samaritan hospital. He had been ill seven weeks with pneumonia. He was a well known life insurance and real estate salesman, and during the past year had served as senior councilor of Galion council No. 476, United Commercial Travelers.

He was born Sept. 10, 1876, in Marshall county, Indiana, the son of Adam and Lusetta (Stofer) Yarian. His marriage April 15, 1913, was to Florence Miller who survives.

Other survivors are four brothers and two sisters, William, Jesse, Owen and Harvey Yarian, and Mrs. Ira Shivley all of Bourbon, Ind., and Mrs. Samuel Wise of Bremen, Ind.

He had lived in Galion for the past 31 years, coming here from Bremen. He was a member of the First Reformed church, the Maccabees, the I. O. O. F., and the United Commercial Travelers.

Funeral services will be held here Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church, will officiate. The body will be taken to Bourbon, Ind., for services Saturday afternoon and burial there.

MEETS TONIGHT

Council Considers Financing of Relief Problem.

City council will meet in special session tonight to discuss the problem of financing the city relief burden for the balance of the year.

While a special election for a $50,000 bond issue to cover food bills for the balance of 1938 appears remote, it is believed that some consideration will be given to placing a relief levy before the voters at the August primaries.

Council three weeks ago discussed a special election to ask for the issuance of $50,000 in poor relief bonds, but when it was discovered that the cost of the election might run as high as $4,000, the question was dropped temporarily.

Those who were given citizenship papers included Tony Floros, of the island of Cyprus, and Cyril Rowbottom from the island of Malta. Both live in Ashland.

GIVE COMEDY

LUCAS—Members of the Lucas High school senior class will stage the comedy "Hold Everything" on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week in the school auditorium.

Of the cast of 14, seven will appear in the same roles both nights, while the other seven characters will be played by different students each night.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TOSSED IN AIR BY TORNADO BUT ESCAPE

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Elizabeth Peacock, a country school teacher, lived through yesterday's tornado to tell one of the strangest stories ever related by a victim of the freak storm. Her account of five minutes in the grip of the raging wind follows.)

By MRS. ELIZABETH PEACOCK

MT. STERLING, Ill.—(INS)—It doesn't seem real yet, I can hardly believe we are all alive.

I was with my twelve pupils in the little one-room school house six miles southwest of here when the tornado struck yesterday afternoon.

One instant it was day. The next it was night. The wind began to screech and the children to whimper with fear before I could get the lights on.

I never had a chance to. Rain beat against the walls with a clattering noise like pebbles but the sound was drowned out almost as quickly as though by the roaring rush of the wind.

The walls began shaking and I told the children to lie on the floor. Everything was happening too fast for me to be greatly frightened.

And then the whole building lifted right into the air.

The roof tore off and the walls splintered. The roaring was all around us. An instant later we fell back with a terrific jar.

I pulled myself from the pile of debris. We were nearly 100 feet from the foundation of the school. I was terribly shaken, bruised and cut, I found out later, but I didn't realize anything then.

The first thing I thought of was the children. Broken desks, chairs, the blackboards and other stuff was all around me.

The children started popping up out of the wreckage and from the field as far as 1,000 feet away. It seemed incredible they had lived. But it was a miracle that none were badly hurt.

We started counting noses and I could only account for eleven. I tried counting again, but there was still one missing. It was little Norland Hatch. He's 11.

We searched everywhere but he couldn't be found.

By a freak he had been carried nearly a quarter of a mile and dropped on the ground almost without harm just a stone's throw from where his own home had been. It was scattered over eighty acres, but his mother and three other children were safe in the cellar.

RENAMED HEAD OF PLAYLOTS

Fendrick, Madison Coach, to Direct Grounds Again This Summer.

Al Fendrick, athletic director and coach at Madison high school, was named director of Mansfield playgrounds for the second year by the Mansfield recreation board last night at Boy Scout headquarters in the Elks' building.

Fendrick received his first appointment as director last year, replacing Sam Tracy, former coach at John Simpson Junior high school.

Supervised play will be conducted at seven playgrounds, Floyd Dent, chairman of the board said. A new ground, Liberty park, will be added to the system, replacing the Newman school ground which has had supervised play for the past several years.

The appointment of supervisors will be made at another meeting of the board scheduled for April 20, Dent said. All applications for positions should be sent to Dent and should be in by April 15, he added.

NAMED HEAD OF M. E. DISTRICT

Dr. Earl Brown, Former Mansfield Pastor, Gets New Post.

Dr. Earl R. Brown, pastor of the First Methodist church of Akron, and former pastor of the First Methodist church of Mansfield, has been appointed superintendent of the Cleveland Methodist district by Bishop H. Lester Smith of Cincinnati, dispatches said today.

Dr. Brown will succeed Dr. Charles B. Ketcham who will become president of Mt. Union college July 1. Dr. Brown served as pastor of the local church from 1925 to 1929, going to Canton where he served as superintendent of the Canton Methodist district for two years. He has been pastor of the Akron church since then.

A graduate of Mt. Union college, Dr. Brown has also served pastorates at Perry and Kent.

FEELS YEARS YOUNGER THOUGH RETIRED BY AGE

Says World's Tonic Just What He Needed

Shooting Pains in Back and Joints Eased With Relieved Constipation

When a man gets old as in the case of Mr. C. W. Hammond of 220 North St., Coshocton, Ohio, a gentleman now retired and with his life's work behind him, constipation becomes a much greater problem. Delay in the intestinal tract may not only come from advancing age, but from wrong foods, lack of exercise and forced conditions under which our modern civilization goes on. Poisonous wastes if allowed to gather must be considered as contributing to numerous ills, kidney discomforts and many other painful and annoying situations. Mr. Hammond says:

"This World's Tonic, a new medicine to me, was just what my bowels needed for a thorough cleaning out and affected me so excellently that I feel years younger.

"I've been having aching, nagging, pains in my back, that traveled up and down and often into my legs and knees. My hands and feet would feel as if they were full of pins and needles and my feet and ankles would swell up. This condition would remain until I went to bed at night. Even on warm days my feet were cold. I formed the habit of taking strong laxatives daily for an ever present state of constipation and this would bring on griping and pains like cramps.

"When I started on World's Tonic, I'd say I had a remarkable experience. The speed with which my constipation was relieved and without those harrowing after effects, was truly an enlightenment for me. Well, sir, to make a long story short, and as far as all the other troubles are concerned, 'there just ain't any more.' I feel fine, years younger, and if you run into any skeptical people who are ailing as I was, just send them to me. I'll make World's Tonic users out of them in no time."

World's Tonic is intended to assist nature as a general medicine and you need not buy extra pills or tablets to get results.

Get World's Tonic at Central Drug store and all other leading Drug stores. (E 36)—Adv.

STUDY TOLEDO'S PLAN TO CLEAR SLUM SECTIONS

Mayor, County Commissioners Check Financing System For Federal Program.

City and county officials who have been studying a federal slum clearance program for Mansfield were in Toledo today to look over a project now under construction in that city.

While the slum program was outlined to officials here by H. J. Halper of the federal housing commission of Ohio, at a meeting two weeks ago, they sought further details regarding the project before starting a preliminary survey here.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter, who accompanied county commissioners today said that he was particularly interested in the financing of the project as it calls for a 10 per cent of the total cost to be advanced by the city.

Must Show Need.

Plans call for a preliminary survey to show the need of a clearance program here. In the survey, the committee would be required to show where the clearance program would eliminate fire hazards and poor sanitary conditions and to what extent it would provide for employment for men on relief rolls.

Should the plans be approved by the federal housing authorities in Columbus, the Mansfield board would then be required to go to Washington to seek federal aid for razing old buildings in the condemned areas and for constructing new projects.

In the meantime, invitations were being mailed to Mansfield business men by the Chamber of Commerce, to attend a housing clinic at the C. of C. assembly rooms tomorrow night.

L. A. Bonsteil of Washington, D. C., a representative of the Federal Housing Authority, will be the guest speaker at the clinic.

Bonsteil will explain the clearance program as conducted by the Federal Housing authority and will answer questions pertaining to the provisions set forth in the housing act.

CITES 8-POINT PLAN TO PLACE G.O.P. IN POWER

Bridges For Decentralization of Government as 1st Point In Campaign Program.

(By United Press)

BANGOR, Me. — Charging President Roosevelt has "cast aside constitutional government," Senator H. Styles Bridges (R) New Hampshire, today urged his party to adopt an eight-point program which he said will place it in power in 1940

Bridges called upon party chieftains to forget petty differences, unite in a drive to overthrow "Roosevelt tyranny," and carefully choose a program "desired by the majority of people," regardless whether it measures up to old party standards.

Bridges' call for united party action was made during his keynote speech opening the Republican state convention

Warning that "we cannot go back to the old ways," he proposed the following platform for adoption by his party:

1. Decentralization of federal government "in order that the power and the control of the functions of government may be returned to the people where it belongs and from whom it has been stolen by Franklin D. Roosevelt and the new deal administration."
2. Return of the profit system to a "sane level by reform in our tax laws to eliminate the abuses of business and industry."
3. Place the social security program on a pay-as-you-go basis and include farm and general workers.
4. Wage and hour legislation providing a ceiling for hours and a floor for wages, "the same to be the law of the land and not be administered by any discretionary board."
5. A "sensible, workable neutrality act," and discard of the "isolationist theory"
6. Support of legislation to "take the profits out of war," and provision for an "adequate army navy and air force to protect American territory and American lives."
7. Reciprocal trade agreements "without curtailment of American production, without starvation of American labor and without lowering the American standard of living"
8. The return of the administration of relief to the states and municipalities, with co-ordinating relief agencies made up of state and federal officials in each state

Condemning the New Deal throughout his speech, Bridges urged members of his party to carry their fight to the polls in the coming congressional and state elections.

'SACK BANDIT' SUSPECT HELD

Lima Police Seek to Identify Man As Northern Ohio 'Terror.'

LIMA—(AP)—County police said that a man apprehended in Spencerville last night was taken to Fostoria today in an attempt to identify him as the "sack bandit" accused of more than a score of robberies in northwestern Ohio.

The bandit, who wears a burlap sack over his head, made his last appearance last week at Fostoria, where he escaped after a fight with police officers. Police said their suspect had a black eye and cut lips.

JAILED AUSTRIAN NAZIS BACK HOME

Return From Five-Year Exile, Greeted As Heroes.

SALZBURG, Austria — (AP) — Austrian legionnaires came home today as disciplined heroes from their five-year exile in Germany.

These Austrian Nazis fled across the border in 1933 and 1934 as outlaws, tattered tramps, fugitives from the laws of Engelbert Dollfuss' and Kurt Schuschnigg's independent Austria

They returned a carefully drilled, motorized corps, neatly uniformed as Nazi storm troopers. How many returned was an official secret, but one estimate placed 14,000 in the line that thousands of cheering, weeping home folk greeted.

SAWS WAY OUT OF JAIL

CINCINNATI — (AP)— Federal Bureau of Investigation agents augmented the search today for Charles Gelbert, who sawed out of jail at Hillsboro A federal warrant charged the escaped Kentucky convict with theft of guns from the Manchester armory.

THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1938.

There's too much money in the bank now and not enough in circulation.

It's a relief, anyway, to learn that the famous $4,500 jackass bought for TVA turns out to be four mechanical jacks for hoisting machinery, bought at the prevailing market price.

Sciences Ignored.

IT IS A STRANGE FACT that new discoveries and inventions in medicine and the more mechanical sciences are accepted by the public without question and are promptly used.

New ideas from the social sciences, on the other hand, are generally received coldly, with superstition and prejudice. Their application is resisted so strongly that social progress lags far behind progress in other fields.

We have the knowledge to correct most of our social ills, but we lack what an authority calls "Social acceptance." He adds that man "gives the impression of heading blindly toward the destruction of what he has created."

What is the cause of this reluctance to make social and economic discoveries useful? Is education at fault? Is it natural human selfishness and greed? Or merely slow-mindedness in a field where we have long accepted old ways as natural and permanent?

Tax-Exempt Millions.

BEFORE congress finishes its present tax legislation, surely it should do something to spread the present tax burden more equitably. The most obvious way to do so is to apply the federal tax laws to more than 2,000,000 persons now wholly exempt from such taxes.

These are such public servants as state, county and city employes, school superintendents and teachers; officers and professors, and even athletic coaches, of state colleges and universities; judges, state attorneys, prosecutors, etc., from the supreme court down; sheriffs, police chiefs, policemen, and so on.

Most of these citizens would not have to pay any federal tax even if they were eligible, under the present rates. But those with the higher incomes would and should pay, as a matter of fairness to all the people in private positions now paying more than their share. Such a vast list of exemptions makes the burden too hard on the others.

This comment of course implies no improper conduct on the part of the office-holders and other public employes now exempt. Their exemption comes from a legal technicality, resulting from a supreme court decision rendered many years ago. There is reason to believe that if congress enacts another general measure now, covering such cases, the courts will uphold it.

Razzing Statesmen.

DAVID LOW, famous British cartoonist, recently paid his respects to his country's foreign policy with a cartoon in the London Evening Standard. He pictured a party at the country estate of Viscount and Lady Astor, held as a celebration "to mark our leader's recent successes."

Lady Astor, wearing a military tunic and decorated with the German Iron Cross, is shown saluting Hitler as a procession of old women march past at the goose-step. Other noted Britishers are in view, including George Bernard Shaw who is crawling on all fours ahead of the marchers. The editors of two of the Astor newspapers are lifting tankards and singing the Horst Wessel song. Lord Halifax who succeeded Anthony Eden as foreign secretary sits on the lawn while someone reads Hitler's "Mein Kampf" aloud to him.

There are more details, but these give the idea. The cartoon probably will not alter the British government's policy, but neither will the government do anything drastic to the cartoonist. His right to criticize the government in this forceful way is not challenged. It is a part of the freedom of speech and press which is guaranteed in both Geat Britain and the United States. The authoritarian governments regard such freedom as one of the weaknesses of the democracies. We consider it evidence of democracy's strength and essential to its survival.

Alienism.

ACCORDING to a statement made by Senator Nye of North Dakota, the Senate has been seriously considering the problem of "organized groups in America flying the flags and wearing the uniforms of foreign countries." He might have added "drilling in the fashion of foreign armies", to make the picture complete, but it was probably unnecessary. There can hardly be any question as to the identification of the groups referred to.

It is, as the senator observes, "a delicate matter to handle", but he and many other lawmakers at Washington, and millions of people throughout the country, obviously think something should be done about it.

The best way to solve the problem, of course, would be for the offending residents, whether citizens or aliens, to see themselves as others see them and stop the offensive practices.

More Arms, Less Trade.

THE Deutsche Volkswirt, semi-official publication in Berlin, expresses alarm about the decrease of German exports. They fell 19 per cent in January and continued their decline in February.

Many reasons are given, such as the "foreign political situation," the American depression, the war in the Far East, and so on. And it is urged by German economists, as it has been in the past, that the export industry must have preference for a while over armament. But Chancellor Hitler calls for more and more armament.

Worse still, Hitler continues alienating Germany's neighbors by threats of aggression, thereby losing good customers. Al Smith could tell him that he "can't have it both ways."

There are people, too, who hate so much to pay income taxes that they resent every dollar they make.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

TWO INTERESTING books reflect the world that has passed—"The Secret Letters of the Last Tsar," edited by Edward J. Bing, and "The Education of a Diplomat," by Hugh Wilson.

One would expect the last tsar of all the Russians to live in a world apart from the millions that toil in it, but it is a bit discomfiting to realize that an American ambassador likewise dwells in such a world. For Hugh Wilson is the new American ambassador to Germany. He had been an assistant secretary of state. And prior to that he had been in Paris, Guatemala, Lisbon, Buenos Aires, Berlin, Vienna, Switzerland.

Envoy Wilson's book is delightful—as light reading. Persons fond of social diversion and polite conversation and international chitchat will find that the volume has a charm quite its own. But it does not indicate much perception. Perhaps because it covers merely the period of the "education" of a diplomat, merely till the American declaration of war on Germany. The new world, in which we now struggle, opened up after that.

Wilson, however, does draw a splendid picture of the scene in Berlin as the United States made up its mind to enter the war. This chapter, written simply and without bias, may prove to be an education not merely to other diplomats, but to all American citizens. It will increase the puzzlement over why we entered the war.

* * *

NO IRRITANT

Wilson is a career diplomat He has learned to be suave and noncommittal, to be interested in the country to which he is sent, to know the customs and the habits.

He will not get on the nerves of Nazi officialdom as did outspoken, undiplomatic Ambassador Dodd, whom Wilson succeeded.

Perhaps such diplomats as Wilson seems to be are needed to maintain peaceful relations between nations.

But surely such men will not reach fundamentals and disagreements and wars will occur in spite of them—and much to their surprise and annoyance.

It has been rumored that Wilson was surprised by Hitler's Austrian move He was caught off guard Perhaps. A man who would not be caught off guard would be persona non grata. A man with a keen perception would be invited to depart.

There is hardly a shrewd man in our diplomatic service. Career diplomats have not had to put up with life—or study deeply. And the wealthy men sent to expensive posts are mere showoffs, and wholly unsuited to study the vast movements that catch humanity within their grasp.

Thus the world beyond the seas remains largely a dark secret to Washington. The financial world is likely to guess it more correctly, but it is too great a gambler (always taking a "last chance") to be relied upon.

* * *

THE TSAR

As for the letters of the last tsar—they sound so stupid, disgusting and nonsensical that even the most hidebound reactionary of today would laugh at them.

One suspects that even if there had been no bolsheviks at all, the Romanoffs would have disappeared from the earth. In fact, this misguided fool created bolsheviks by the tens of thousands. Every time he opened his mouth or wrote a letter he drove a nail into his own coffin.

Women will be interested in this book. The tsar was very much in love with his wife. His love story is more important to him than the weal of the nation—and it is a quite charming love story

And one does feel a bit sad that his wife and daughters had to go to doom with him and his heir. But such is the path of every revolution

Former Kaiser Wilhelm has been fortunate in being out of Germany. And Archduke Otto, "heir" to the non-existent throne of Austria, is lucky to be outside the German clutches

Tsar Nicholas was dead alive. He never existed even in his own world - which now seems aeons back It would not have been possible for him to adjust himself to this far newer world — in any country, whatever its political makeup.

Both books are worth reading to gauge better this changing world.

The Response to Hull's Refugee Plan

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Wouldn't one think that it would make Adolf Hitler's ears burn to hear the generally enthusiastic response to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's suggestion that 29 other nation's join this country in extending, as far as possible, the right of asylum to the victims of inhuman persecution in Nazi Germany and adjacent territory which his regime recently has grabbed or evidently plans soon to grab?

Secretary Hull does not trouble to charge that the Fuehrer is an almost unbelievable despot. He simply states it as a recognized fact. And his statement is accepted as a matter of course by other governments.

Yet the Hitlerian ears DO NOT seem to burn.

* * *

AND IN BRAZIL—

President Getulio Vargas' administration in Brazil took a "crack" at the Fuehrer which possibly was even more insulting than Secretary Hull's.

Berlin, it will be recalled, complained to Vargas that the latter's policy was somewhat less than fair to Brazil's "German minority." It is true that certain German-Brazilian Nazi societies had been suppressed as seditious. The Rio de Janeiro government, however, refused even to receive Berlin's note, contemptuously tossed it into the waste basket, without a diplomatic glance or any official answer at all.

Apparently Vargas did take an informal squint at the communication, for his foreign minister, Oswaldo Aranha, subsequently commented on it unofficially, in a worldwide radio broadcast

He said, in effect:

"We haven't any German 'minority' here; we're all Brazilians."

* * *

BRAZIL'S FOREIGN CHIEF

Some folk say that Vargas is a dictator. Maybe he is. Nevertheless the Pan-American heart cannot but warm toward him for his treatment of that Hitlerian note.

By the way:

Brazilian Foreign Minister Aranha- pronounce it Ar-ahn-ya) untill very recently was his country's ambassador in Washington.

He is an extremely popular diplomat here. Several times we had him as a luncheon guest at the National Press club. He did not come in his official capacity, to address us or sit at the table with the notabilities. He mixed incognito with the "hoi polloi." He was studying Yankee politics, and wanted to get the "low down" on our philosophy. For example, I recollect that he listened in at Press club chats by Earl Browder, Norman Thomas and Dr. Gerald Smith, of Huey P. Long fame.

He is as open-minded a political student as ever lived, and a democrat — though he admits a few democratic weaknesses.

Anyway, he is a credit to the Vargas official family.

* * *

LIBERTY-LOVING GERMANS

It is difficult to believe that the rank-and-file of Germans are basically what Hitlerianism appears to imply

Baron von Steuben was one of our Revolutionary heroes. General Sigel was a northern hero of the war between the states—a warrior for freedom of the slaves. Carl Schurz was a liberal statesman in Washington in his day.

Within my recollection this country was full of Germans who had fled, for liberty, from their home land.

Why is it that (except for their large persecuted minority) they are so different now?

I take it that, due to Hitlerian censorship, they do not know what is going on.

But one thing does puzzle me.

Agree that Hitler does want to extinguish his minority. Why, then, does not he permit it to emigrate? Amazingly, to me, apparently he wants to bottle it up at home.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, March 31, 1918.

Mansfield clocks were advanced one hour in conformity with the government's new plan of daylight-saving time.

Congregation of First Lutheran church raised $8,326 which freed the church from indebtedness.

Thomas B. Martin, prominent attorney, died at his home, 90 West First street.

Auto belonging to H. G. Clark, Church court, was destroyed by fire.

Maxwalton farm lost 91 head of imported cattle when the boat bringing them from Scotland was torpedoed in the Atlantic submarine zone.

Mrs. A. B. Endly and Mrs. Frank W. Bloor went to Toledo and Detroit to spend two weeks with friends.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, March 31, 1933.

March came to a lamb-like end —but it was a very wet lamb, as heavy rain fell on last day of month.

George Latham, assistant manager of Mansfield-Leland hotel, resigned to assume new position at Curtis hotel in Mt. Vernon, in which he had acquired an interest.

County Auditor Arthur S Beck reported county's bonded debt stood at $791,699, a decrease of $70,740 in a year's time.

Miss Katherine Beaverstock, Ohio university student, arrived home for visit with parents.

Rev. M. G. Nicola, rector of Grace Episcopal church was guest speaker at St. Paul's Evangelical church in Mt. Vernon.

TODAY IS—

Thursday, March 31; the 26th day of Lent. Saturn and Moon in conjunction. New Moon, the second of the month.

Listen, World!

Teachers' Pets Rarely Win Top Places.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

All we kids hated little Emmaline Houghton. Emmaline was our town's Model Child. Always had A's on her report card. Never got spots on her apron. Never, never sassed back. Naturally all our Moms n' Dads said—"Why can't YOU be like little Emmaline Houghton? And all US kids gave her a kick in the shin—whenever we could, without being caught.

That was 50 years ago. I still yearn to kick the Emmaline Houghton in the shin—and I notice the world does, likewise. Model Children—whether they're six or sixty—are seldom anyone's treat. Wonder why? Here come —goody goody!—some famous educators with the answers.

First off, there's Miss Etta Anchester, kindergarden superintendent in Philadelphia. Does Miss Etta prefer Gold Medal Kiddies? She does NOT! Says she

"We must realize the seriousness of a child's always getting A's. He has a right to get a D once in a while. It will do him good, for life isn't going to strew A's all around him."

"THE RIGHT TO GET A 'D' ONCE IN A WHILE"—the right to blunder and go blah—that's a great idea, and a priceless human privilege, Miss Etta. And wreaths to you for admitting it! Far be it from me to advocate criminal records but, on the other hand, I know of no more obnoxious nuisance than Ye Perfect Citizen. His own record condemns him. For it is not possible to lead a brave or generous life without getting plenty of D's on one's card.

Truly great people are bound to make fools of themselves . . . run idiotic risks . . . make reckless experiments . . . go on cock-eyed crusades. They can't possibly learn about life and love, or acquire tolerance and understanding, unless they do. But it certainly raises Cain with their report cards! Yet I'd rather know one such warm-hearted, enthusiastic scallawag than a hundred cold storage saints! And so, I'll wager, would YOU.

Nor is unpopularity the only penalty for perfection, according to Dr. Robert N. McMurray, executive secretary of the Chicago branch of the Psychological Corporation Says he—

"Teacher's pet is likely to grow up a conformist — a person who never blazes trails—the sort of a person who accepts what is told him without question. The pattern given by the teacher is carried over into adult life. He is not likely to be a leader or a dynamic individual. That's the way I view the future of goody-goody children."

* * *

And that's also the way the Boss is apt to view him. Who gets the unexpected promotion . . . the swell assignment to start a new department? Is it the perfect plodder who has always done his job just so? Or the Careful Copy-Cat who has obeyed all the rules? Hardly ever. Usually it's some smart youngster who had enough nerve and initiative to depart from precedent and put over a Swift One on his own. Now, while the office Yes Men chew envious nails, he gets the Fat Chance.

And there's justification for their bitterness. Our sentimental social slogans and our false education theories have taught them that the prizes go to the Careful Conformists . . . to those who Stop, Look and Listen before they go ahead. A theory which naturally appeals to our human laziness and cowardice but which is, nevertheless, all wrong.

Always the prizes have gone, not to those who copied and played safe but to those who dared to be different — even though it meant a beating.

Thunders Dr. Edwin B. Place of Northwestern University—"There is nothing so dangerous for a growing child as monotonous and uninterrupted success in school achievement. A few hard knocks are necessary."

Do you boast because Sister "never talks back . . . always does what she's told? "Are you proud because Junior has been at the head of his class, three years running?

THEN GET OVER IT . . UNLESS YOU WANT SISTER AND JUNIOR TO JOIN THE TRAGIC REGIMENTED RANKS OF LIFE'S "ALSO RAN'S."

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

DON'T BE STUBBORN: Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding: whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle, lest they come near unto thee.—Psalms 32:9.

Let's Look Around

Around by Savannah on a Longer Way Home.

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Turning northward, with an idea that the longer way around may be the more interesting way home, a look around Savannah and consideration of the historic past of this attractive southern city encourages that belief.

With its record extending back more than two hundred years, to the February day in 1733 when General James Oglethorpe and a little group of English colonists reached Savannah harbor and established the first settlement in Georgia, Savannah was destined to play an important part in both the Revolutionary and the Civil wars—having been the objective point in Sherman's "march to the sea" during the war between the states.

The home occupied by General Sherman as headquarters, after evacuation of the city by the Confederate army, still proves an attraction for visitors, although it is now merely a private residence with a characteristic high iron fence around the pleasant yard.

The English architectural influence dominates in the older sections of Savannah, especially in residential and church construction.

Within a couple of years after the fouding of Savannah, John and Charles Wesley came here as ministers of the Church of England and it is on the site of present Christ church that John Wesley, founder of Methodism, started the first Sunday school in America, during the two years he was in the ministery here.

A nearby hotel, the John Wesley, occupies a spot on which the Wesley garden was located—thus varying the quite common southern custom of naming hotels after war heroes.

It was also from the fine landlocked harbor of Savannah that the first steamship to cross the Atlantic sailed in 1819, and in the council chamber of city hall a model of this ship, "The Savannah," may be seen by interested visitors.

* * *

NOTABLE in Savannah is the witdth of main avenues, the expanse of its public park system and its "Victory Drive," extending for miles along the southern side of the city, with a central boulevard being made into a gorgeous azalea trail and a double row of palm trees planted in commemoration of Savannah soldiers who served in the World war.

Peculiar to Savannah is a beautification plan in which six parks, each with a suitable monument, intercept progress along one of the principal north and south thoroughfares—much similar to the location of Central park in Mansfield.

All of these are popular recreation spots—and not a word is heard of cutting through the parks to facilitate motor traffic. In each instance there is one-way traffic around the parks — with apparent inclination of all drivers to conform to this regulation.

Pointed out as of interest is the Low house, home of Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of America. In this house Thackeray was entertained in 1855 and Robert E. Lee in 1870. It was in the manse of Independent Presbyterian church here, in 1885, that former President Woodrow Wilson married Helen Axson.

Unusual, is that visitors are directed to Bonaventure cemetery as one of Savannah's beauty spots, this having been an old southern estate, with many fine trees, before it was converted into a cemetery almost a hundred years ago. Its older sections provide an excellent example of southern floral attractiveness — especially at this season.

In Forsyth park, largest of the central park system previously mentioned, is a reproduction of the famous fountain in the Place-de-la-Concorde in Paris.

All in all, the decision to go around by Savannah on the way home was well worth while.

* * *

COMING northward along the Florida east coast, at least a short stopover at St. Augustine was essential—just to have another look around that quaint "oldest city in the United States"; to drive again through the city gates, the only remaining portion of the old city wall, built in 1620 to protect against marauding Indians; to glimpse sturdy Fort Marion once more and to visit the "oldest house," with its secret fireplace bank, its intriguing "wishing well" and its "money vine," a leaf from which is said to insure—according to Indian superstition—that you will never be without money.

There is a lure about St. Augustine that, having once been there —is hard to resist.

* * *

NOT yet ready for public inspection, but giving promise of being among next season's major attractions on Florida's east coast, are the Marine Studios, now nearing completion at Marineland, eighteen miles south of St. Augustine on the ocean highway—which soon may be known as "Alternate U. S. No. 1."

Here, in two of the largest aquaria ever built, an ambitious effort is being made to reproduce ocean life in such a way that it can be observed and studied under natural conditions—with a gathering of all kinds of tropical fish and other creatures of the sea made clearly visible by filtration of the sea water, which provides the various specimens with their customary habitat—even to the extent of supplying sea weeds, grasses, rocks and coral formations common to the ocean depths.

View of the interior of the huge tanks is obtained either from upper platforms extending around the aquaria, or through the many large portholes arranged on three levels, the lower of which give an upward view into the tanks and is especially adaptable for scientific study and photographic work.

An advance look-in on this project, with many forms of sea life already represented, and the work of assembling specimens progressing each day, gives an idea of the immensity of the venture—and also a hint of its attractiveness when it is completed and in readiness for showing.

Giving an idea of the size of the tanks, one is a rectangle, 100 feet long, 40 feet wide, with a water depth of 18 feet, which the other is circular, 75 feet in diameter and 11 feet deep. It is estimated that approximately 85,000 species of aquatic animal life will be shown, many of which will provide a widened range for scientific study in addition to public entertainment.

It had been hoped to have the Marine Studios completed by now, but the work involved in completing the aquaria and gathering the specimens was greater than anticipated and the opening was therefore delayed. But it won't be long until you'll be reading articles about the "ocean in miniature" and seeing it in the news reels.

* * *

The straw hat was all right up to the Florida state line—but it seems out of place in Savannah—where there is a tinge of chill to the air coming in from the harbor. Spring is just a little later in arriving here, it seems.

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

With My Own Thoughts.

My thoughts must my companions be.
Of people I have had Enough today and now I want
My own thoughts, gay or sad.

Too much of contact with the world
Is wearying, I must
Have my own dreams awhile to keep
My heart's high hope and trust.

Not even you, whom I adore,
May share my hours tonight.
Alone I must commune with my
Own thoughts, the dull, the bright.

CITY ASKS BIDS ON SEWER JOB

Project Call for Laying of 2,250 Feet of Pipe on 2 Streets.

Sealed bids for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Shepard road and Overlook road will be received by the board of control until noon April 18, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert announced today.

Specifications call for the laying of approximately 2,250 feet of eight-inch sewer pipe on the two streets and the construction of eight manholes.

All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of $50, drawn on a Mansfield bank, as surety that if the proposal is accepted, a contract will be entered into, Styert said.

STEELE LEAVES HALF MILLION

Bequests In Cash, Securities of Shelby Industrialist Total $204,000.

R. Bloom, sister-in-law of Mr. Steele.

The remainder of the estate will not be distributed until after the death of Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Anderson. The will then provides that endowments be set up for eight institutions and organizations, and Mrs. Bloom, a sister of Mrs. Steele.

The endowments include Shelby Memorial hospital, $50,000; Ohio Wesleyan university, 50,000; Elyria Home for the Aged, $25,000; Methodist Children's home at Worthington, $25,000; Lake Erie college at Painesville, $10,000; Superannuates Fund of Association of the Northeast Ohio Methodist conference, $25,000, and $10,000 to Mrs. Bloom. The residue of the estate, the will provides, is to be distributed to the Methodist Home Missionary society and the Woman's Foreign Missionary society.

The will, which was signed 14 years ago, establishes immediate endowments of $10,000 for the Shelby M. E. church, $5,000 for the Shelby Memorial hospital, $5,000 for Ohio Wesleyan university, a Methodist school at Delaware, and funds of $1,000 each for four organiations affiliated with the Shelby church.

They are the Ladies' Aid society, Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Woman's Home Missionary society and the Sunday school board. The will specifies that the $10,000 church bequest shall be known as "The H. W. and Emma A. Steele Endowment fund."

Other bequests from the estate, the value of which was not estimated, include $1,000 each to three nieces, Stella Gruver and Emma Gruver, of Pitston, Pa., and Carrie Schade of Philadelphia; $1,000 to Ollie Jones of Kingston, Pa., a niece of Mrs. Steele, and 20 shares of stock in the Shelby Steel Hinge company to Fannie Fletcher, Shelby, and Hermine Spamer, Mansfield, former employes of Mr. Steele.

The Union Trust company, of Cleveland, or its successor, is named trustee and instructed to hold the residue of the estate in trust, with the earnings to be distributed to the widow and her daughter.

HELP! THE WORLD'S COMING TO AN END!

NEW YORK—(AP)—It looks as though astronomers may have to apologize to the stars for some of the names they have given to majestic celestial bodies.

Take the Tarantula. It is a faint haze of light, seen above the region of the South Pole. Years ago, telescopes showed it to be the kind of a blaze of light known as a nebula

The shape was that of a tarantula, hence the name. It was at first believed to be just another bit of the Milky Way, quite detached.

But now it is known to lie a million light years beyond the Milky Way. Its diameter is so vast that light takes 600 years to cross its face.

The Tarantula is the biggest and most magnificent mystery of the skies. It is apparently a gigantic, luminous gas pocket. Bigger telescopes may show the spider-shaped creature to be composed of stars.

But at present Tarantula classes with the famous nebula in the constellation.

The Orion nebula is one-hundredth the diameter of the Tarantula. If the big spider were in Orion, in the position of the present nebula, it would give the earth a light like moonlight every night it was above the horizon.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Four rifles came up, were levelled, crashed almost as one. Only Don Ponce had not fired.

The car swerved sharply to the right; then back to the left, then straight on the road again. But it had slowed down, and a man drooped over one side.

Jose raised his rifle, fired.

* * *

The man seated beside Vasquez seemed to spring to his feet, then he swayed and plunged out of the car.

"Two gone," said Charlie Kilbourne, grimly. "Let's try again."

But as he fired, the car swerved and the shot went wild

"Look out!" shouted Murray. "He intends to run us down!"

For, after having slowed up, Vasquez had suddenly given the car all it would take, and almost before the defenders of La Luz realized it, the car was upon them. They just had time to jump aside. The car screeched to a stop, and Vasquez and his two remaining companions, guns in both hands, tumbled from it.

But they were at a disadvantage. One of his men was dead before his foot touched the ground. But Vasquez and the other one leaped behind the car.

Then a strange thing happened.

"Come on now, Ponce—take 'em in the rear!"

Don Ponce Robles looked surprised . . . and Jose gave Charlie Kilbourne a significant glance.

Don Ponce made no move.

"Come on, you coward!" shouted Vasquez again.

"He's talking to you, Don Ponce," Jose turned and called. "Why don't you help your leetle friend, huh?"

"Not to me, he isn't," said Don Ponce. "He must be crazy."

"What," howled Vasquez from behind the car. "You are double-crossing me, chief? You're going to make me the goat!"

* * *

The guns were all silent, and lowered, as this amazing conversation went on.

"I don't know what you're talking about, fool," snarled Don Ponce. "I am Don Vicente's guest." I am a friend of the governor of Chihuahua. I have . . ."

"Why, you double-crossing rat!" shouted Vasquez, coming around the car, eyes blazing, face suffused with angry blood. "You—our chief — who came here to make the raid on the rancho. Who has bossed the job from the inside. Who was after Miss Castle first—and then after the girl at this ranch — together with the properties of both . . . you think —you think . . ."

Suddenly his thought changed.

"I will have my wife!" he cried. "I will have the American girl who is my wife."

"Fool!" snarled Don Ponce then. "Triple fool!" don't you know yet that you married the wrong girl? Don't you know yet that it was Carmen, not Dolores, who is Miss Castle? Fool and bungler!"

For a long moment Vasquez stared unbelievably at Don Ponce. Then his bloodshot eyes, like those of an angry dog, went to the other faces—and he saw the truth written there.

Jose laughed.

Vasquez turned again to Don Ponce.

"You knew, eh? You!"

Don Ponce deliberately raised his pistol, fired it.

Vasquez staggered backward, clutched at the machine, then, swaying, fired his own gun from his hip. With a last effort of will and body he straightened, cursed Don Ponce, and crashed forward on his face. His one remaining follower threw down his gun and raised his hands in surrender.

Chris Drake ran to where Don Ponce lay squirming on the ground, Vasquez's last bullet in his belly.

"The end of the Vasquez gang," Murray said, as he joined him.

"Almost," replied Chris Drake. "This one here—Don Ponce Robles, alias Chihuahua Pedro, alias half a dozen other things—is the last one of any importance. He's the fellow I've been after. International crook Vasquez was working for him . . . Want to make a confession, Pete? You've got about three minutes to live."

Don Ponce groaned. His face already was ashen.

"Yes," he breathed. "Yes"

Five minutes later he was dead, and Chris Drake had a confession which, among other things, forever removed the stigma Vasquez had put upon the names of Carmen and Dolores.

* * *

Murray and Sue stood beneath a great tree. Below them at a distance the hacienda of La Luz lay a picture of peace, as though no violence could disturb its tranquility.

Murray put his arms around the girl, drew her to him—and waited.

At last Sue looked up

"Murray," she said, eyes on his, "here's that kiss — if you still want it."

Murray did.

(THE END)

Book of the Week

"WHO CALLED THAT LADY A SKIPPER?" by Marion Rice Hart (Vanguard; $2.75.)

This is the best cruise story this reader has found in a long while and its author, Marion Rice Hart, has the best sense of humor (for a sailor) we have ever met. Most sailors are as serious as a stray dog in a rich garbage pile.

Mrs. Hart calls her book "Who Called That Lady a Skipper?" for reasons which will appear shortly. To begin with she was just a woman of a certain financial responsibility living in her villa on the French Riviera,and gently growing more and more bored with it all. Suddenly the idea arrived that a long, long cruise of escape would be perfect. She at once started to buy a suitable vessel.

It took a long time. When she found it, she was in England. She and some friends did much of the repairs and fitting out: she alone hired the first captain, however. He had to be dispensed with before she started. it seems he had bought the rigging for her, and it all fell to bits as soon as it was touched. The second was little better; he struck out for Brest, and arrived at Binic.

The third was a Frenchman, and he was excellent. But he would only take the boat to Marseille—he managed it in two or three months. Then came the Master, who lasted as far as Egypt; the Master was too much a gentleman and a hypochrondiac to boot.

The Master was the end—Mrs. Hart decided she could do as well herself as any of her specimens with the exception of the Frenchman, and besides, she couldn't find another captain, anyway.

So the "Vanora" sailed for Singapore with a Lady Skipper, her nephew Rusty, an amusing boy in his teens, Bill, a real sailor from Nova Scotia, John, the cook and one or two others. Somehow, partly by exercise of a delightful sense of humor, Mrs. Hart got the boat to a point considerably west of Borneo, with such things as dragon hunts and 2-cent lobsters in between.

Mrs. Hart writes easily, not too copiously, not too technically, and with the fullest use of that sense of humor. She is the only amateur world-sailor who ever made this reader wish he were in the crew. —By J. S.

HEDGES STAGES ANNUAL CONCERT

Orchestra and Glee Clubs Give Spring Program Monday.

The annual spring concert by the band, orchestra and Boys and Girls glee clubs of Hedges school will be given Monday evening in the assembly room at the school.

Orchestra numbers will be under the direction of Segurd K. Jorgensen, director of instrumental music in the public schools, and the band and glee clubs will be directed by A. Lemoine Derr, musical instructor.

The concert will begin at 8 p. m. with a special matinee at 2 p. m. for school children.

SUPPORTS CHIEF

Third Club Backs Bates' Plea for More Policemen.

A third Mansfield organization today joined in supporting Police Chief Meade K. Bates in his request to city council for additional men for police department.

A letter forwarded to council by the Tourist club, on file with Council Clerk William J. Beer, stresses the heed for additional patrolmen, and said the club had voted unanimously to support Chief Bates in his effort to attain more men.

"The regulation of traffic and the suppression of crime is a noteworthy cause," the letter said.

Chief Bates asked council several weeks ago for five additional patrolmen.

POSTERS OF 30 PUPILS CHOSEN

County Dental Society Will Enter Mansfield Drawings In State Contest.

Thirty of the 103 posters entered in a contest sponsored by the Richland County Dental society had been chosen today for competition in a state dental poster contest in April.

The posters, which were submitted by pupils in Mansfield schools, are to be used in an educational campaign being conducted by the American Dental society. Winning posters in the state contest will be entered in the National contest next October.

Mansfield was the only city in the nine counties included in the Central Ohio Dental society which participated in the contest. The 30 top-ranking posters submitted here will be shown at the society's meeting at Bucyrus April 13.

Other posters in the 30 to be sent to Columbus were made by the following pupils in the grade and junior high schools:

Katherine Ann Fensch, Jean Wentz and Betty Sotherland, Western avenue school; Paul Cory and Sttella Petrovic, Newman school; John Schwartz and Russell Carr, Bowman school Jane Moore, William Huntsman and Annabelle Jane Crittenden, Prospect school; Eugene Holland, Bushnell school; Richard Ader and Carrol Hosier, Brinkerhoff school; Gloria Beveridge, Hedges Elementary school.

Adeline Distl, Lois Ohler, Marjorie Wentz, Richard Stark, Ruth Watson, Betty Cave, Robert Galster, Henry Gilbert, Marion Shaull and Margaret Clark, John Simpson Junior high school; Robert Schooenen, Richard Leinard, Ronald Kern, Lois Curry and Wanda Hess, Hedges school.

Judges in the contest were Dr. R. B. Moyer, Mrs Moyer, Dr. John H. Bristor, Dr. B. E. Shrefler and Miss Isabel Robinson, art instructor at the John Simpson school.

TWO BROADWAY COMEDY HITS ON BOOK LIST

Variety Marks This Week's Additions to Public Library Shelves.

Two comedies which are current Broadway attractions are among the headliners on this week's additions to the Mansfield Public library shelves. They are "Susan and God" by Rachel Crothers, and "Room Service" by Murray and Boretz.

Among the non-fiction is a new book by Karl A. Menninger "Man Against Himself" is a brilliant and arresting diagnosis of a mental disease. "The Realm of Truth" by George Santayana is the third in a series developing his philosophical system. There are three volumes in the series, "The Realm of Essence" and "The Realm of Matter" being the other two.

Ruth Harkness writes of her strange and remarkable exploit in the capturing of a live giant Panda in "The Lady and the Panda." The good humor with which she met every difficulty is evident in many of the passages in her book.

Writes of Adventures.

"Assigned To Adventure" is creating considerable furore in the newspaper world. for it was written by Irene Kuhn, noted newspaper woman and foreign correspondent. The writer pursued her career in the capitals of the world as well as in the outposts, observing life and living it through the most breathless decade of modern history.

This history of the world's greatest insurance system. is found in Ralph Strauss' "Loyd's: The Gentlemen at The Coffee House."

Robert Guy McCutchan has collected the hymns that are familiar to every Methodist in "Our "Hymnody," with notes on the old favorite hymns, their writers and composers.

Non-fiction also includes the following new volumes:

"Personal Realism," by Pratt; "Appocrypha," edited by Komroff; "Christian Missions and a New World Culture," Baker; "Southern Regions," Odum; "Race," Barzun; "Gardening in Stone," Wheelwright; "Houses for Moderate Means," Phillips; "On Decorating the House," Koues; "Games," revised and enlarged edition, by Bancroft; "Complete - Book of Games," Wood and Goddard; "Panamexico," Wells; "Gallant John Barry," Clark; "Exploring with Byrd," Byrd, and "Fall of the Inca Empire" by Means.

Novel on English Family.

Storm Jameson has witten a novel of an English family in a small Yorkshire fishing town, which makes its appearance on the fiction list.

"The Moon Is Making" has for its characters the Wikkers family, members of which are cruel, gross and self-centered. Only Handel is different, and he beats out his life fighting for the poor.

"Some Plant Olive Trees," by Emma Gelders Sterne, tells of the short-lived Vine and Olive colony established in Alabama in 1817, by French refugees. Based on historical fact the novel presents the love story of Nina Le Clerec and Charles Villars against a background of backwoods life.

The two-volume novel "Joseph In Egypt," by Thomas Mann, is an addition to the John Baxter Black Memorial collection. The author paints a picture of Joseph and his contemporaries as human beings, subject to the same trials and temptations we experience today, with much the same reactions.

Other fiction this week on the new list of books is: "County Court," by Flannagan; "Rebels' Rendezvous," Forest; "Bloody Daddles," Holmes; and "Devil To Pay" by Queen.

CUT 10 MILLION

Sales Tax Collections to Be $40,000,000 In State.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The Ohio tax commission has estimated 1938 sales and use tax collections would be $40,000,000, a drop of $10,901,000 from 1937.

The estimate was made for the purpose of informing local tax spending bodies of the proportion of allocations they will have available for spending during the current year.

Sales tax collections are allocated to counties from the so-called "local government fund."

Collections thus far this year have been 21 per cent below a corresponding period in 1937, according to State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley.

GOLDEN RAIN

OROVILLE, Calif.—(AP)—In this gold country they know what to do after heavy rains such as California has been experiencing.

Hunt of streambeds from which the overburden of sand has been washed away has resulted in discovery of a number of gold nuggets. One picked up by J. D. Bragger was valued at $80.

Don't Neglect a Cold

Rub soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat.

Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, helpful in drawing out local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists'. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

Cancer Serum Takes Life of Seventh Florida Patient

House Fight on Reorganization Bill Opens

AUTHORITIES TREATING FOUR IN HOSPITALS

Give Anti-Tetanus Treatment to Survivors; Examine Medical Preparation.

(By United Press)

ORLANDO, Fla.—The seventh victim of cancer serum died early today.

The latest to die was Mrs. F. Moonert, 63, of Winter Park. The six who died Tuesday and Wednesday were all women. Four other persons who received the serum, were being kept under close observation at hospitals. All were in a critical condition.

All those stricken were under treatment for cancer by the same doctor, whose name was withheld.

Show Tetanus Symptoms.

The deaths were preceded by the symptoms of tetanus. Federal, medical and local authorities were trying to determine whether tetanus virus had gotten into the serum. The five survivors were taken to hospitals and given anti-tetanus serum. Several doctors were attending them.

In all, the one Orlando doctor had been treating 14 persons for cancer.

Dr. J. N. Patterson, director of the state health laboratory at Jacksonville, arrived last night and began testing a quantity of the serum. He said the results might not be known for several days.

L. M. Beachman, jr., of the federal pure food and drug administration, said that all the serum shipped to Orlando had been accounted for. Beachman came here to make sure that no more of the serum was circulated.

Claims Earlier Successes.

The doctor who administered the serum said that he had given "probably 10,000" injections of it in the past two years and lately had been so encouraged by the results that he was preparing to report the successes to the manufacturers.

The preparation was called "Ensol." It was a product of the Connell Research Foundation at Kingston, Ont. Dr. H. C. Connell, head of the firm, said at Kingston that he had information that the seven persons who died had been treated from the same bottle.

Proposes To Cut Off Bay, Create Huge Inland Lake

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A vast project for isolating half of Sandusky bay from Lake Erie and converting it into one of the nation's largest inland lakes was advanced today by the state conservation division.

The proposal is designed to convert approximately 30 square miles of water into a paradise for sportsmen and recreationists.

It would raise the water level of the western half of the bay about four feet and provide more spawning grounds and more aquatic vegetation for fish in a body of water where Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell said "fishing has gone to pot."

As outlined by Wooddell and W. E. Owens, division engineer, the lake would be formed by building a dam at the Sandusky bay bridge, which spans the lake between bay bridge, in Erie county, and Danbury, in Ottawa county.

The dam would not have to be more than 200 feet long, for an earthen fill spans almost a mile and a half between the two shores. This fill is part of the bridge system, over which state route 2 crosses.

Mrs. Mabel Tucker, 61, Succumbs Near Fredericktown.

FREDERICKTOWN — Mrs. Mabel M. Tucker, 61, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Darwin Braddock, four miles south of here, after a brief illness.

Surviving beside her daughter, Mrs. Braddock are a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Swank of Fredericktown; two sons, Claire Dowds of Cleveland and Carrol Zardman of Louisville, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Jennie Stofer of Livingston, Mont., and two brothers, Westley Weller, of Macey, Ind., and Harry Weller also of Indiana.

Up and Down THE STREET

Jack Berger is a living example of the old axiom that a "dressmaker's child has no clothes." As assistant to Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Mansfield, he hands out dozens of licenses every day and frets because so many drivers don't have their new license tags —yet—but his own car at noon today was still bearing 1937 tags. It is just a case of being too busy with the other fellows' licenses to look after his own. Berger said he probably will buy his plates just after closing time tonight and get them on sometime before midnight.

Mrs. W. J. Spreng, 414 Park avenue west, just back from a tour of Mexico, saw her first bull fight while there and never wants to see another. But, she admits, it was at a bull fight in Mexico City where she received the biggest thrill of the entire trip. Seated directly in front of the Spreng party at the bull fight were Walter Jordan of Mansfield and Joe Brown of Ashland, with neither group knowing the other was in Mexico.

Mrs. Mary Hiltabiddle, 1 Tremont street, is 91 years old today and isn't particularly interested in the fact. She was 90 last year, next year she'll be 92—so what? She decided long ago that age was a mental condition and has little to do with birthdays. This daughter of one of Mansfield's pioneer physicians and attorneys, lives in her own home and gets a great deal out of life. One of her claims to distinction is that she is Mansfield's No. 1 baseball fan, never missing a game broadcast throughout the season. She was born Mar. 31, 1847 in a house that stood where the Blymyer Inn now stands at Mulberry and Park avenue west.

Mrs. Blanche Cairns, 52, Had Been Ill Long Time.

Mrs. Blanche Bertha Cairns, 52, of 39 Penn avenue, wife of Frank D. Cairns, died at the home Wednesday evening following a lingering illness.

A resident of the city 22 years, Mrs. Cairns was born in Crestline, May 24, 1885.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. L. J. Piller and Mrs. Charles Bahl of Mansfield; two sons, William of this city and Lloyd of Forest Hills, Pa.; her father, William Foltz, of Crestline; three sisters, Mrs. H. R. Craner, Mrs. Otto Shealy and Miss Lettie Foltz of Crestline; a brother, Ross of Battle Creek, Mich., and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, with Rev. C. L. Kern of the South Main Evangelical church officiating. Burial will be in Crestline cemetery.

RETIRED FARMER STRICKEN AT 65

Allen Lavengood Dies at Home in Hayesville Today.

HAYESVILLE — Allen Lavengood, 65, retired Ashland county farmer, died at his home here early today following a lingering illness.

Surviving are his wife, Lillie; six daughters, Mrs. Ethel Boyer, Mrs. Mary Mundorf, Mrs. Katherine Mowery and Mrs. Florence Scott of Ashland, Mrs. Mabel Spotts of Jeromesville and Mrs. Vern Yonkovski of Mansfield; four sons, Harry of Jeromesville, Howard of Massillon, Earl of Hayesville and Merle of Portsmouth; a brother, Charles of Loudonville; a sister, Mrs. Della Brown of Redhaw, O., and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Swank funeral home in Loudonville at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. G. R. Thomas. Burial will be in the Pioneer cemetery in Loudonville.

NEW DEAL, FEARING ELECTION, SNAGS TVA QUIZ, SNELL SAYS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—With the path cleared for an investigation of the Tennessee Valley authority, smouldering political quarrels, buried for a week by unanimous demand in congress for the probe, flared into the open today.

From House Minority Leader Snell came the flat charge that the administration had blocked all attempts by congress to order an early report from the investigators for fear of repercussions at the polls should it be filed before the November elections.

Bitterly resenting indications by administration leaders that the minority will only receive two places on the 10-man senate-house committee which will conduct the inquiry, Republicans cried that a "whitewash" of the trouble agency is in the making.

"If this is going to be the fair and impartial investigation that the administration claims it is going to be, then they have nothing to fear in giving the minority the four places on the committee that precedent entitles us to," Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house G. O. P. Whip declared.

Snell, pointing to the vigorous activity of Majority Leader Rayburn yesterday in bringing about a 177-49 house defeat of a proposal to have the committee report on the qualifications of the TVA's board members by June 1, said:

"What the public wants to know is whether the charges of the man ousted by President Roosevelt, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, against his fellow directors, Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, are true.

"The administration doesn't want any report before next January because of fear of what that report might be. They are afraid to have it come out before the November elections."

STUDY METERS

Town Hall to Study Parking Problem Tonight.

Traffic and parking will be the topic of discussion when Town Hall meets tonight, H. W. Arlin, chairman of the traffic safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

The subject was considered by the group last year after which the C. of C., its sponsor, forwarded several recommendations to city council.

Tonight's discussion will go into the advisability of installing parking meters as a solution to the downtown parking problem. The feasibility of rerouting several through highways away from the downtown section of the city will also be discussed. It has been claimed that the rerouting of some of the five state and national highway that are routed around Central park would lessen the traffic congestion there.

Tonight's meeting has been called for 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms.

FLOOD WATERS HALT FASCISTS

Spanish Loyalists Dynamite Dams to Stall Offensive Drive on Lerida.

(By United Press)

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier — Flood waters, pouring down the Cinca river from dams dynamited by the loyalists, slowed the nationalist advance today and delayed capture of Lerida, the loyalist general headquarters.

Timing themselves with the Asturian "dynamiteros" who mined the dams, the loyalist counter-attacked strongly in the outskirts of Lerida and the nationalists admitted that their advance had been interrupted.

Neither nationalists nor loyalists, however, expected that Lerida, capital of Lerida province and first sizeable town in the path of the nationalist advance into Catalonia, could resist long.

Farther south the loyalists, realizing that the gravest threat on the entire front lay in a possible nationalist thrust to the seacoast near the mouth of the Ebro river, threw into a desperate defense the two crack Spanish divisions of their army.

The famous Asturian dynamiters from the mines along the Bay of Biscay coast had blown up two great dams. The first was on the Cinca river above Fraga, spearhead of the nationalist advance into Catalonia. This dam swelled the river somewhat, and according to the nationalists sent 412,560,000 cubic feet of water down the river.

Next the loyalists dynamited what apparently was an even bigger dam at Barasona, on the Esera river 40 miles north of Lerida.

TOWNSEND SUIT ASKS 27 MILLION

Pension Supporters Accuse 24 of Trying to Damage Leader.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Twenty-four men and women accused of injuring the reputation of Dr Francis E. Townsend and other members of his old age pension movement were named in a $27,000,000 damage suit filed in federal court today.

The action was brought by Huston H. Marrs of Denver and other supporters of the Townsend plan

The bill accused Robert E Clements of Los Angeles, a defendant and former officer of the movement, or originating a plan to "wreck" the pension organization in 1936.

OHIOAN LEADS FIGHT TO KILL NEW DEAL ACT

Lamneck Reports 15 Buckeye Representatives Oppose Consolidation Plan.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON— (P) —Foes and friends of the administration's reorganization bill termed "a perfect fake" and "an admirable statement" today the letter in which President Roosevelt asserted "I have no inclination to be a dictator."

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The house begins debate on the government reorganization bill today. Democratic and Republican representatives charged that the administration was exerting pressure to "jam it through."

House leaders were confident it would be passed despite the success of Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell (D., N. Y.) in blocking plans to call the house in session an hour early and to limit general debate for six hours.

The bitterness of the fight in the senate, where the bill was passed Monday with a seven-vote margin, spread through the house. The house bill is a combination of four measures and covers virtually the same ground as the senate bill, which would grant President Roosevelt broad power to reorganize, transfer and consolidate executive bureaus.

Lamneck Leads Fight.

"The house leaders," Rep. Arthur P. Lamneck (D., O.) said, "have a lot of the boys thinking the bills they are proposing in place of the senate bill are minor bills. They'll pass these and then go to conference and write anything they please. I want to kill the amendments and then kill the bill.

"Wouldn't it be a hell of a thing having Harry Hopkins dictating how you are going to educate your children? And he could do it under the section of this bill creating a department of welfare. If the people protest this to the house, we'll beat it."

He said that he had polled 15 of the 22 Ohio delegation members and found "not one" for the bill

WIDOW, 75, DIES

Mrs. Setterfield Stricken Today at Shelby Home.

SHELBY—Mrs. Lumetta Belle Setterfield, 75, widow of William Setterfield, died here this morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Crabbe, following an illness of six months.

Mrs. Setterfield had been a resident of Shelby for the past 21 years, and was a member of the United Brethren church.

Surviving are five sons, Clyde of Rochester, O., Ralph of Elyria, Cary of Shelby, William of Detroit and Hugh of Columbus, two daughters, Miss Twilla Setterfield of Shelby and Mrs. Crabbe; a brother, Dr. H. E. Dwire of Bucyrus, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Dick and Dye funeral home with Rev. John Searle, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. Burial will be made in Oakland cemetery.

What Congress Is Doing

(By Associated Press)

TODAY

Reorganization—House debates government reorganization bill.

Burlew—Senate considers nomination of E. K. Burlew to be assistant interior secretary.

Taxes—Senate committee may complete revision of house to tax bill.

Flood control—House committee holds hearings on $300,000,000 flood control program.

YESTERDAY

House Republicans blocked proposal for six-hour limit on reorganization debate.

House amended and passed senate resolution for congressional investigation of the TVA.

Senate passed $549,000,000 naval appropriation bill, and bill to add 22 federal court judges.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I got a little peevish when I read that Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, said that "misrepresentation" by newspaper columnists aroused opposition to the reorganization bill. The word "misrepresentation" has a dirty sound, and the political commentators of our press can look the members of the United States senate dead in the eye on that one.

"Misrepresentation" has the sound of "deception" for ulterior motives, and we all know that no man can be a senator who is not a politician and that no politician ever presents both sides of any issue in which he has an interest or commitment The politician gives the side which he favors, and the ethics of the hard-shelled professional are such that he may even favor a side which he privately believes to be absolutely bad lest the political organization of which he is a member deprive him of the right to appoint his back-home henchmen and heelers to cheap jobs for which they have no qualifications beyond a highly developed talent for sitting around.

* * *

Thus deprived, he has no power to reward the heelers who serve him at election time, and therefore stands to lose his own job, which doesn't pay much in money, either, but gives him a sense of importance and the right to park his car where the taxpayers can't.

I go further and say that if any newspaper columnist of national circulation who deals with political matters were shown to have had dealings comparable, even on a small scale, to certain private activities of Joe Guffey and George Berry—to name a couple of Senator Byrnes' own colleagues in the most exclusive club in the world —he would be completely discredited, fired and forced to seek, no doubt, congenial employment in one of the propaganda dugouts of the New Deal, where his talents would be appreciated.

* * *

Mr. Guffey's record was dusted off in last week's Saturday Evening Post, and anyone who reads it may ask himself how far a newspaper columnist would get with that albatross around his neck. Mr. Berry, the millionaire president of the Pressmen's union, put in for damages to a problematical quantity of marble beneath Norris lake in his home country in eastern Tennessee, and a federal commission threw the claim out.

But if Senator Byrnes ever learns of a columnist's buying leases in the path of a public improvement and then claiming damages for the regatta rights to a desert, he has only to raise a holler to run the journalist clear out of the newspaper business. It might be legal, but it wouldn't be tolerated by the profession.

I refer also to Senator Harry Truman, of Kansas City, who recently got up and roared against the reappointment of Maurice Milligan, the federal prosecutor who has been sending to prison a lot of thieves who stole elections for the machine of which Senator Truman is the delegate in the United States senate. This is the Pendergast machine, which regulates the crap-shooters and prostitutes in a a wide-open town and which in 1934 gave Truman a statewide primary plurality of 40,000 over Representative John Cochran, of St. Louis.

There has been a new registration in Kansas City since then which showed a decline of 86,000. Inasmuch as Truman beat Cochran by 120,000 to 1,200 in Kansas City, the 86,000 spooks obviously voted for Senator Truman. Spooks they must have been, for there has been no exodus of population from Kansas City to account for this shrinkage of the registration. Deduct them and Cochran won by 46,000.

* * *

Now, if Senator Byrnes will cite a single instance in which a commentator's remarks on any political issue have been comparable in obligation and depth of motive to Senator Truman's speech against Milligan's reappointment, that one, too, will be barred from the senate press gallery as unworthy to report or interpret the labors of his three fellow-statesmen here mentioned.

Why, then, should or do columnists "misrepresent"? Are they under orders? This is impossible, because those whose writings have sufficient circulation to be of any effect write for syndicate and are published by papers of all—or, let us say, both—shades of opinion. Are they bribed in this case by the power companies? That would be easy to prove through their income tax returns and frisking process of the internal revenue department, which does not exempt journalists, however tenderly it may gentle the affairs of prosperous and well-connected young brilliants of the insurance and radio trades. Maybe Senator Byrnes himself could supply the motive and the proof of conduct which would not be tolerated in this business, however lightly it may be indorsed as characteristic of the profession which he has the honor to adorn.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The skeptics' club—which isn't an organization but a state of mind—is going to watch with interest the new M-G-M product which will be, so its makers insist, minus the customary quota of secondary or Class B films.

Obviously though not specifically a slap at the "double-feature evil," the production plan will offer the same number of films as last season. Sixteen of the 52 will be made on a standard feature budget (from $250,000 to $500,000) and the rest, or 36, will be super-supers, bristling with stars and practically colossal if not stupendous.

But the practical result may be, if history repeats itself, that the double-billers will simply take two super-supers for one program —as they do now with abandon— and regard the others at "just B's" The onerous "B" classification grew in the first place out of simple comparison. Most of today's lowly "B's" would have passed as super-supers in the first year of talkies, when anything that had squeaks and groans in it was a picture for exhibitors to howl for.

* * *

The main difference between a "B" and an "A" film as made today is that the "B" lacks real star names. It also has less "production value," that is, less costly sets, a quicker shooting schedule, lower story costs and lower salaried actors. They may be just as good, even better actors than go into the "A's," but they don't have top drawing power. (Exceptions: Jane Withers, or Charlie Chan, or the Jones Family.)

Costing so much less, the "B's" stand a better chance of returning a profit than some of the super-colossals which run into $2,000,000 costs.

* * *

But the main difference, as noted above, is the lack of real star names. There are plenty of people here who get star billing who aren't stars in the commercial sense. The real stars are making two, three, maybe four pictures a year. Some of these are co-starring vehicles, at that—which would cut down the number of films from these select "real" stars.

HEADS Y GROUP

Miss Virginia Jenkins, 426 West Third street, a student at Ashland college, was elected president of the campus Y. W. C. A. for the 1938-39 school year at a meeting of the "Y" group yesterday.

ALL DECLARERS know how to hold up an ace so that later it can block the run of a suit. Not so many think of holding up a guarded king. Still fewer consider doing so if it necessitates blanking the king, even though that is perfectly safe because a guard remains opposite it.

After a pass by West, North opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Club, East called 1-Spade, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps.

The spade 7 was West's original lead, on which the declarer placed the 10 from dummy, East the Q and South won with the K. South then started on the club suit, which West won and returned his last spade to East, who cashed his remaining cards of that suit and set the contract two tricks

South realized the mistake he had made. On the first trick the play of the 10 from dummy forced the Q from East. This should have been allowed to hold, and whether East continued the suit or waited for a lead from West, the spades could not have been cleared before the club A was driven out. Had East cashed the spade A, the spade J in dummy would have won the third round and West would not have been able to return that suit. If East switched to a new suit, when West gained the lead with the club A, East would have had to play his spade A, to pick up South's K, and the third round would still have been won in the dummy.

Tomorrow's Problem.

How should South proceed with the play for 3-No Trumps after the lead of the heart K?

Girl Loves Friend's Beau

By VIRGINIA LEE

Josephine has fallen in love with her girl friend's boy friend, but he doesn't know she exists, she says. Would it be all right for her to give him a little encouragement? she asks.

Suppose your girl friend had a pretty ring and you wanted it. Josephine. Would you feel you should take it, even if she said she did not care especially for it, but did not offer it to you? No, you would not, I presume. You would call it stealing if you did, and so would she.

Well, to my mind, I could forgive the filching of a mere piece of jewelry better than stealing another girl's sweetheart. Of course for the first you could be sent to jail, and for the more serious offense you probably would not be punished except by losing the friendship of your pal She could not even get redress by going to court, as girls or women who bring breach of promise suits simply make themselves ridiculous Of course you two are just little schoolgirls and there would be no question of court suits or anything so serious, but the principle is the same.

Be a good sport, my dear. Be a clean, honorable young woman. If your girl friend really does not care for this boy—as you say she speaks slightingly of him—she may give him up after a while. Then you may get your chance to comfort him.

We women have the name of being catty and dishonorable in our dealings with our sister women Let us disprove that accusation. I have seldom found it true. Men too are catty and sometimes take their pals' girl friends, and do all the things women are accused of. That is human nature, I guess, not confined to sex.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, April 1.

VERY LIVELY and propitious circumstances prevail under the interesting planetary configurations. There may be much stirring in the launching of new projects, but possibly the major energies may be concentrated on social, sentimental or other private interests. Friendship, courtship or marriage should flourish under this vibration, with functions, celebrations and gifts figuring conspicuously It should be a day of merriment and happiness.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may expect to encounter a very lively year, with the forces and energies under high stimuli for action. These may, however, be centered on personal rather than business objectives, as the vibrations may enliven social, sentimental, romantic and friendly indulgences. There may be a wedding, with bounteous gifts, and a full complement of joy and gayety.

A child born on this day may be energetic and lively enough, but it may direct its forces and faculties to the social, friendly, humane or sentimental domain of life rather than the sordid or commonplace. It may be artistic, gracious and a lover of beauty, even in most practical application.

Egg stains on table linen should be soaked in cold water before being sent to the laundry. The stains come out quite easily if treated in this way. Hot water sets them and makes them doubly difficult to remove.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"OF COURSE not," I told Mary with emphasis but in muted tones in answer to her query as to whether I would mind following her cue as we left the English tea room to which the man, whom we suspected was a detective, had followed us.

"Just play up," she whispered back as she led the way to the door, near which sat the strange man I had first seen watching us from a taxi outside the store in front of which we had been window shopping.

As we came within "listening" distance of him, she turned her head and with casual nonchalance

"Don't you think we've done the shops on Fifth pretty brown? What say we take a taxi over to Park and cruise down it a bit? There's a sports clothes exhibit at J's I'd like to check."

Madge Agrees.

"Why, I think that would be a very good plan, Dearest," I said making my voice distinctly saccharine "It really doesn't matter to me what we see, and I think that sports exhibit would be most amusing."

"Then J's it it," she said, "Wait here. I'll get a taxi"

I did not dare look directly at the man who had followed us into the tea room, but from beneath my lowered eyelashes I saw him rise, and realized that he must have paid his check when the waiter brought his order, so that he might be free to leave the place at any moment he chose.

It was a relentless espionage which was being kept upon us, I comprehended with a thrill of something life fear, and wondered anew, as I had done when I first realized the man was spying upon us, who was responsible for the espionage

Vertizen Responsible?

Of course, my conjecture went first to Philip Veritzen. He was perfectly capable of setting such a watch to assure himself that Mary, one of his featured players, was not breaking training, or to further some inquiry even more obscure I could visualize the suave smile with which, if the espionage were discovered, he would declare that he was only safeguarding one of his most valuable players, who was his daughter-in-law as well.

If it were not Philip Veritzen—my mind jumped in two or three directions so far-fetched, so fantastic that I pulled myself together with a violent jerk, and resolved to dally with conjecture no more I would devote all my energies to "pulling the wool" over the detective's eyes, making him believe that we did not suspect his spying, and in perfecting plans for throwing him off our track if we should wish to go somewhere where we distinctly would not wish his presence

When we were in the taxicab and had given the direction for J's sportswear establishment, Mary turned in the seat with the palpable intention of looking out of the rear window to see if the detective was following us I caught at her hand and shook my head at her ever so slightly.

"If he should see you, he would realize we knew what he was doing," I told her, and she nodded, with her eyes once more "strictly front"

"I get you," she murmured, "and from now on discretion is my middle name"

Pork Chops - Scalloped Potatoes
Cabbage Salad Canned Corn
Apple Pie Coffee

Few other meats are used in so many different ways for hearty meals as pork chops, and with the recent drop in meat prices, pork chops are again an excellent meat to buy.

"Pork chops are best when cooked by braising," says Inez S. Willson, home economist, "because in the slow cooking which they are given, their delicious flavor is developed to the full extent." First, they are browned in hot lard. Dredging with flour before browning is optional. Many cooks prefer to do so because they think it increases the browning. When the chops are browned, they are seasoned, a very small amount of liquid added and the chops cooked slowly until done, 30 to 40 minutes for chops cut one inch thick

Pork chops, because they are so rich in flavor themselves, are often combined with other foods to make the whole meal hearty. For instance, pork chops which are first browned and then placed on top of escalloped potatoes for the rest of the cooking time, not only are delicious themselves but make potatoes which are the best ever. Pork chops may be cooked with rice or practically any kind of vegetable casserole in the same way, with the result that the whole dish is well seasoned and tasty.

Like to dig in your own garden? Feel pride when the first shoots push thru Spring softened earth? Rather gather your own flowers to beautify the dinner table? Then, dear lady, you'd better start the ground work, if you haven't already. Snooping around in MARTIN'S HARDWARE today, I lost myself in admiring the gorgeous flowers printed on the envelopes of seeds. Noticing they were Rice's popular flower seeds, I was convinced that they probably would produce a flower as lovely as the illustration, if given the proper care. MARTIN'S have a most complete line of these seeds . . . morning glories, asters, zinnias ... all the colorful and perfumed blossoms that make your garden a thing of beauty.
